KENNEDY AILING

Cigar in hand and using crutches, President Kennedy went out in Washington's inclement weather Wednesday without raincoat or hat on his way to yacht cruise with visiting Japanese Premier Ikeda. Today the president came down with a "mild virus infection," cancelled all appointments and stayed in bed. His back ailment is reported almost over and he is expected to be off crutches any day. # Gov't Takes First Step To Fire Head of Bank

Fierce Fight Looms in House

OTTAWA (CP)—The government took the first parliamentary step today in its move to oust James E. Coyne as governor of the Bank of Canada.

In Commons documents it gave notice of a bill entitled "An Act respecting the Bank of Canada." There were no details.

The bill may or may not be introduced in the Commons Friday.

The Liberal and CCF opposition parties have indicated the ouster bill will be hotly debated.

Coyne was reported today to have made no change in his decision not to resign in the face of the government move to oust him.

It is understood that, unless there is some further development to change his mind, the 50-year-old governor won't voluntarily step down.

Informants said that neither Finance Minister Fleming's Tuesday night budget nor the government's first formal move today to seek parliamentary action to fire him have changed Mr. Coyne's views on remaining.

U.K. Won't Alter Sterling

LONDON (Reuters)—Treasury chief Selwyn Lloyd pledged today that Britain will keep sterling on its present parity following the weakening of the Canadian dollar.

He told the Association of British Chambers of Commerce the pledge to keep sterling steady is "in no way affected" by the Canadian decision to reduce the value of its dollar.

Lloyd also said that Britain's balance of payments position "causes me concern" and that Britain must reduce overseas military expenditure as well as reducing other government expenditure overseas.

PLOT TO KILL ADLAI FOILED, SAYS PAPER

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York World Telegram said today it had learned of an abortive plot to assassinate UN Ambassador Adlai Stevenson during his recent visit to Argentina.

The newspaper said also that a U.S. marine involved in the investigation of the plot was later shot and is now hospitalized in critical condition.

LAOS 'SUMMIT'

Let King Do It, Princes Decide

ZURICH (AP)—The three princes of the warring factions in Laos agreed today on the need for national unity but left it up to King Savang Vathana to do something about it.

Laos Plans Rejected By Soviet

GENEVA (UPI)—Russia today rejected American and French proposals for effective controls to protect the neutrality and independence of Laos. It also refused to strengthen the truce teams trying to maintain the ceasefire.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Georgi Pushkin, speaking with a machine-gun style delivery before the 14-nation conference on Laos, turned down what the West maintains is fundamental machinery to guard the Southeast Asian kingdom from Communist penetration.

Pushkin also turned down offers by the U.S. and France to supply helicopters, light planes, trucks and other equipment for the international control commission supervising the Laotian ceasefire.

Pushkin said the control body is successfully carrying out its job in Laos and that the opposing Laotian factions should supply any transportation and communications facilities it needs.

Wednesday, however, Canadian External Affairs Minister Howard Green said reports from Canadian members of the ICC were that such equipment either was not available or was obsolete.

Power Blackout Hits Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—A power failure today blacked out a small section of the city, leaving building elevators stuck between floors, lights out and news and telegraph wires dead for more than an hour.

B.C. Electric officials said the outage apparently was caused by failure of an underground cable.

U.S. Sues Royal Bank Over Cheque in Cuba

NEW YORK (UPI)—The U.S. government filed suit in federal court today to recover $352,000 from the Royal Bank of Canada, in New York. The complaint charged the Royal Bank with negligence in failing to comply with a request to cancel a General Services Administration cheque for this amount which was transferred to the Nickel Processing Corp. of New York's account in the National Bank of Cuba.

The cheque, according to the complaint, was turned over to the B.N.C. of Cuba the same day that Premier Fidel Castro ordered the nationalization of the Cuban Nickel Co., owned by the government and operated by Nickel Processing.

The suit said several demands have been made for the money. The government seeks return of the money plus interest.

microphone up in the loft to record the sounds of early morning bird songs.

The judge decided that Clegg was guilty of trespassing on the privacy of the Sheens. He assessed damages of $52 ($145).

"I was astonished to find this microphone. It was inside the cardboard core of a toilet roll, and the wire led to Mr. Clegg's house."

TSHOMBE

... 'men not demagogues'

Crisis End In Sight — Tshombe

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI)—Katanga President Moïse Tshombe was freed today by the central Congolese government after two months of imprisonment and said his release brings "the end of the Congo crisis in sight."

"We will work together to make this a great country," he told a press conference in the home of central Congolese Premier Joseph Ileo. "But we need men—not demagogues. I think the Congolese leaders are becoming statesmen now instead of demagogues."

Tshombe also said that Katanga "has always wanted to collaborate with the rest of its brethren in the Congo." He said such collaboration is in Katanga's interests.

Some observers said Tshombe's statement indicated he may have finally given up hopes of seceding from the Congo, although what guarantees the central government has that he will not begin again were not immediately apparent.

Tshombe said he was freed at noon and would return to his capital in Elisabethville in a "few days." He confirmed earlier reports that he would be released early if Katanga's deputies promised to attend the resumption of the Congolese parliament session, set for next Sunday near here.

Minor Sacrifices Needed

HALIFAX (CP)—Sir Sa-ville Garner, retiring United Kingdom high commissioner to Canada, said Wednesday the U.K. would not join the European Common Market if it involved becoming part of a "supra-national state."

He commented in a press conference that no country can yet see how the Common Market will work out.

If Britain does join, he said "the United Kingdom and the Commonwealth alike will all have to make some minor sacrifices here and there."

Informants said fund officers will undertake the inquiry—described as a "consultation"—to determine whether Canada is seeking any unfair competitive advantage in the export of her goods. These sources said the fund was given no advance inkling of the new Canadian policy outlined in the budget Tuesday night.

Normally, a country which plans to revise its exchange rates consults with the fund before announcing its decision.

However, Canada is in a slightly different category since, she maintains what is known as a fluctuating rate rather than a pegged rate after letting the dollar float free in 1950.

What apparently seems to fund officers to be a switch from previous policy is the statement by Finance Minister Fleming that it will be Canadian government policy to "facilitate" the movement of

DIEF ON COYNE

'Public Servants Not the Masters'

OTTAWA (CP)—"Public servants are not the masters of the elected representatives of the people," Prime Minister Diefenbaker asserted Wednesday night in his first public comment on the controversy between Finance Minister Fleming and James E. Coyne, governor of the Bank of Canada.

"I point this out because it is necessary to do so," Mr. Diefenbaker told a nation-wide audience on the CBC program, The Nation's Business.

He said the publicized views of the governor on monetary and fiscal policy had presented "blocks in the path of progress that can defy even the most patient and persistent efforts."

"The case of Mr. Coyne of the Bank of Canada now is thoroughly out in the open where it can be discussed and assessed in the light of all the facts."

URGED HIGHER TAXES

Mr. Diefenbaker told his audience:

"You shouldn't forget this—that among the things that he (Mr. Coyne) recommends for Canada are higher taxes, a 10-per-cent rise in tariffs for a few years, gasoline and diesel oil taxes and the like."

"Civil servants are entitled to give their views, but however exalted, they are not above the elected representatives of the people."

"No one can be allowed, no matter how much he or she may disagree with government policy, to impede the national policy for the development and expansion of the Canadian economy to equalize opportunities for all Canadians," said Mr. Diefenbaker.

"Public servants cannot demand from the elected representatives of the people."

The prime minister then went on with a review of Canadian progress since his government took office—four years ago Wednesday.

The government had faced a serious problem of unemployment without seeking "sympathy" and seemed, in the light of the latest unemployment figures, to have gone far toward overcoming it.

DEBATE OPENS

Another Budget In Fall?

OTTAWA (UPI)—Liberal finance critic William Ben-dickson said today he wouldn't be surprised if Finance Minister Fleming brings down another budget this year.

He told the Commons there was nothing in Tuesday night's budget to justify the delay of its presentation except possibly the section covering moves to reduce the value of the dollar.

He suggested Fleming might have needed three months—budgets are usually presented in March or April—to talk his cabinet colleagues out of huge expenditures.

Ben-dickson, opening the six-day budget debate, said the budget could not be called "expansionist" as Fleming called it because the spending programs had been decided last fall by the cabinet. He said these programs were decided on the ground of "political expediency" and not economics.

Polio Hits Japan

TOKYO (AP)—The government stepped up efforts Wednesday to check a polio outbreak that has stricken more than 1,000 Japanese and killed about 80. The welfare ministry said enough live vaccine to inoculate 13,430,000 persons will be imported from all available sources.

Senator Got $5,000 For 'Election Debts'

MONTREAL (UPI)—Senator Henri Courtemanche today denied at a public inquiry that he received kickbacks from a hospital that received federal and provincial government grants.

Industries Hard Hit By Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Longshoremen returned to the piers today after a one-day work stoppage that crippled the Port of New York.

But the week-long national maritime strike grew worse. The number of immobilized American-flag ships rose to at least 150 in 30 ports on the east, west and Gulf coasts.

Negotiations were in a stalemate as the impact of the strike deepened. More industries—especially oil plants—were hit.

A group of oil producers in Texas asked President Kennedy to invoke the Taft-Hartley Labor Act and obtain a court order for an 80-day cooling-off period. The plea was made in a telegram by the North Texas Oil and Gas Association.

One of the ships knocked out of service was the United States—queen of the American fleet—which was to sail for Europe Saturday with 1,700 passengers, its largest list of the year.

WIRE BRIEFS

OTTAWA (CP)—Transport Minister Balcer said today instructions are being given to start work immediately on planning for a new terminal for Vancouver's international airport.

New U.S. Navy Chief

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy today nominated Vice-Adm. George W. Anderson to succeed Adm. Arleigh A. Burke as chief of naval operations. Burke retires Aug. 1.

Ex-Queen Dies

LISTENING TO THE BIRDS?

'Candid Mike' in the Attic

LONDON (AP)—Why did William Clegg install that microphone in the attic over Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Sheen's bedroom?

To record bird calls, Clegg insisted in court Wednesday.

Sheen said the explanation was strictly for the birds. The listening device was only eight feet from the Sheen nuptial couch "and every word we said in bed could have been picked up by that microphone."

Clegg and the Sheens live in attached cottages with a common attic.

"I had never been in the loft," Sheen, 52, testified, "but one day recently it rained hard and I went up to see if the roof was leaking."

LED TO CLEGG

"I was astonished to find this microphone. It was inside the cardboard core of a toilet roll, and the wire led to Mr. Clegg's house."

Said Mrs. Sheen, 48:

PRISONERS TO FIGHT POLICE—ON DIAMOND

Inmates of the William Head minimum-security prison may find themselves in another brush with the police shortly, but this time it will be on a far more friendly basis.

Scene of the action will be a baseball diamond, as the William Head softball team takes on the RCMP line in an exhibition game at Central Park on July 9. It will be the first time the prison team has played outside the institution.

Rated among the tops in the 12-member Independent Athletic Association, the RCMP team may have a little difficulty in pinning back the prisoners, according to an association spokesman.

"We may have to strengthen the Moutie battery with a couple of association pitchers. The inmates team has more than held its own against visiting teams."

Proceeds from the game, which starts at 1.30, will go to the Matson Sunset Lodge fund drive.

Ex-Minister Linked To Quebec Graft Deal

QUEBEC (CP).—A former minister in the Union Nationale administration and a legislative councillor and his brother-together transacted $923,000 of business with the Quebec government between 1955 and 1960 through a firm named Baribeau-Etchemin, Inc., a Quebec royal commission was told on Wednesday.

BOUGHT AT DISCOUNT

Baribeau-Etchemin bought heavy machinery from Chas. Cusson, Ltd., Montreal, at a discount of 11 to 12 per cent, then sold it at full price to the colonization department. Government purchasing orders were signed either by the former colonization minister himself or by the former director of the Quebec purchasing bureau, or both.

The three men are: Joseph-Damase Begin, for many years the UN party's chief organizer and Quebec colonization minister; Albert Bouchard, UN member of the legislative council for the division of LaSalle, and Arthur Bouchard, brother of Albert.

BEGIN HELD HALF

The two Bouchards held half the common and preferred stock of the firm and Mr. Begin's 50 per cent interest was held in trust by Robert Perron, his brother-in-law.

Jean Poirier, 43, chartered accountant employed by the firm, said the firm's operations consisted of forwarding orders for machinery, paying for the machinery, delivered without charge by Chas. Cusson, Ltd.,

The commission Wednesday heard hospital administrator Paul-Emile Olivier testify that legal fees amounting to about $16,000 were paid to Mr. Courtemanche or to his law associates, for work in the expropriation proceedings. Vouchers and documents for these payments were in the hospital files.

But he repeated his testimony of last week that a number of cheques for Mr. Courtemanche, and the vouchers for them, have disappeared from hospital files since the visit of a "special auditor" sent by Mr. Courtemanche when he was Canada's secretary of state.

BABY GIRLS GET DOWRIES

VIENNA (Reuters).—Mayor Franz Jonas of Vienna celebrated his 10th anniversary in office by giving all baby girls born here Wednesday a dowry of 10,000 schillings (about $390). They will receive the money when they marry or on their 25th birthday.

Drunk Tests Backed
MONTREAL (CP).—The Canadian Medical Association Wednesday gave official approval for the first time to breath-tests for alcohol and recommended the Criminal Code be amended to make such tests standard in drunk-driving cases.

JOBLESS FEDERATION CLOSES LOCAL OFFICE

Employment in Greater Victoria has improved so much since January—25 per cent overall—that the local office of B.C. Federation of Unemployed has closed for the summer.

Robert Noble, chairman of Victoria Labor Council unemployment committee, told delegates Wednesday employment is "still a bug-bear," but the construction trades have picked up some.

He said unemployment here has dropped from 6,000 to 4,490 in the last six months.

It was suggested the committee might obtain figures from the social welfare department to denote the relationship between unemployment benefits and welfare payments.

Mr. Noble had been asked if the totals for those unemployed would include any individuals on relief—people who had exhausted their unemployment insurance benefits and were then eligible for welfare assistance.

Policy Ban On Job Lure, Labor Told

Painting Canada as a land of golden employment opportunities by overseas publications is against immigration department policy, Victoria Labor Council was told Wednesday night.

Council complained last February of misleading advertising in British newspapers, where it was suggested Canada had many job openings.

The country was at an unemployment peak at the time.

A letter from the minister of immigration's office explained it had taken some time to track down the offending advertising and that its publication is against departmental policy.

"We are trying to prevent a recurrence of this type of advertising," the letter said. It pinned down the particular source as a travel agency which exaggerated the opportunities and listed the specific jobs available, contrary to immigration department instructions.

"In any event, only a handful of applicants answered the advertisement," the letter reassured.

The department will reiterate instructions to its overseas staff, the council was told.

DAY LABOR ON BRIDGES

'Cheaper' Says Gaglardi

Highways department maintenance men build bridges and wharves for Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi because day labor is generally cheaper, he told Victoria Labor Council Wednesday.

The council and pile drivers union had complained of a growing departmental policy of hiring "sub-standard" employees to do the specialized work of erecting bridges and similar structures.

Also, it was argued, letting the work out to regular contractors would assist unemployment.

Mr. Gaglardi replied by letter the regular men were being used on small new projects and many had long years of experience with the province's 3,000 bridges.

"It is shown that the work is generally cheaper by day labor. If we hired contractors for every big project then we would have to lay off our regular maintenance men," the letter said.

"Many have a great deal of experience in bridge construction. Although their wages may be smaller than what seems adequate to your council, they are employed the year round and are not subject to seasonal fluctuation."

'Soft Way' Budget, Says U.K. Newspaper

LONDON (CP)—British newspapers today turned up with a wide range of reactions to Finance Minister Fleming's unveiling of the budget Tuesday night.

It was a day of heavy comment on Canadian proposals to lower the value of the dollar and to consider the possibility of a duty on British cars and spare parts.

The majority of newspapers discounted suggestions that the budget was Canada's reaction to Britain's possible entry into the Common Market. Canadian-born Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express and Evening Standard were the notable exceptions.

Fears were expressed that the possible 10-per-cent car tariff would hit British sales hard at a time when the country is running into trade difficulties.

But the general feeling was that the budget was an attack on a severe economic recession.

"No hair shirt for Canada," says The Daily Telegraph editorially.

"Mr. Diefenbaker and his finance minister... have clearly decided that Canada can get over her difficulties the soft way."

The Independent Times views the financial statements as strongly expansionist and a "bold attack on the situation."

The Financial Times, considered an authority in financial circles, presented a variety of comments.

'DISCOURAGED'

Soviet Test Bid Rejected by Mac

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan said today he believes Britain and the United States will continue to refrain from nuclear tests as long as the test ban treaty negotiations continue in Geneva.

Macmillan told the House of Commons that the Western powers are deeply discouraged that the Soviet government seems bent on creating fresh difficulties in the Geneva talks.

The negotiations for a test ban treaty opened Oct. 31, 1958, but are deadlocked.

Macmillan opposed a Soviet proposal that the nuclear test talks should be merged with the forthcoming negotiations on general disarmament. Answering a question by Labor Leader Hugh Gaitskell, Macmillan said:

"It does not think it would help to get the nuclear test question settled rapidly if it was put into the general disarmament discussion."

"I feel very much that it would get lost there, rather than make progress."

Lex, the paper's stock market analyst, says a dose of inflation is obviously what Canada needs to combat the high unemployment levels.

Lombard, banking and finance commentator, of the publication, warns of the risks involved in Fleming's proposal to depreciate the value of the Canadian dollar on international markets.

In a lengthy article on the background of the budget, the Financial Times' Ottawa correspondent expresses doubt that the dollar's depreciation can have any significant short-term effect on employment levels.

Latin Conditions Worse In Past Year, Adlai Finds

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—Adlai Stevenson returns to Washington today with gloomy views on South America but with the feeling most of the continent's governments are under good leadership and are working toward improvement.

Informed quarters said those would be the main findings he would place before President Kennedy Friday in summing up his 18-day trip to the 10 independent countries of the continent.

The special presidential representative planned to spend today working with aides on the report as his military plane completed the final leg of the 16,500-mile trip which began June 4.

Stevenson declined to comment on his tour before reporting to the President but informed sources said he would report that conditions are worse than when he made a similar tour a year ago.

Stevenson was said to have reached the conclusion that economic conditions have deteriorated during the last year, Communist subversion has increased and that South American governments are less stable.

He was understood to have found the governments conscious of a Communist menace but the current political climate unsuitable for joint action to curb subversive activities.

He also was understood to feel that anti-American sentiment rose sharply after the April invasion of Cuba but that it is subsiding with time.

Associated said Stevenson feels the United States must grant substantial funds for Kennedy's alliance-for-progress plan to work. But he believes the countries must show they are striving to help themselves before aid is given, they added.

The Art of Assassination

SOME 30 years ago a conspiracy of Conservative politicians, destroyed the career of the late Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways. The same sort of hatchet work is now under way against Sir Henry's contemporary successor, Mr. Donald Gordon.

The assault on Mr. Gordon began last September when his appointment as head of the government's railway system lapsed. Since that time Parliament has frequently asked, but has never found out, whether the appointment is to be renewed. Meanwhile Mr. Gordon holds office, in a humiliating position, from month to month. Obviously the government hopes that, unlike Mr. Coyne, he will quietly resign and make no trouble. In both cases the government has misjudged its men.

The second move against Mr. Gordon took place recently in the House of Commons, where three Conservative back-benchers launched a savage attack not on his policies but on his personal character. He was described by these members (none of whom had formerly taken any interest in railway problems) as "almost inhuman," as "a dictator," an "autocrat" and "the Number One enemy of national unity."

These apparently independent opinions from the back benches didn't fool anybody. As that loyal supporter of the government, The Toronto Globe and Mail, observes: "What is really disturbing about the scene in the House of Commons, however, is not the absurd charges hurled by the back-benchers but the fact that no reply came from the government front benches."

There are thus grounds for the suspicion, says The Globe and Mail, that "the whole performance was rigged; that the cabinet is planning to use the excuse of a supposed back-benchers' revolt to get rid of Mr. Gordon. The railway unions have long been clamoring for Mr. Gordon's head. This might be an easy way to appease them without acknowledging to the country that that was the real reason for the president's dismissal."

"If this is what is planned it can only be described as a despicable trick. If the government wants to remove Mr. Gordon it should do so openly, accept the full responsibility and give the public the reasons. To use back-benchers to do the dirty work is unworthy of national leaders."

The technique of smear and character assassination was turned on Mr. Coyne but it back-fired. It is back-firing in the case of Mr. Gordon. For though many Canadians disagree with some of these gentlemen's views and policies their ability and integrity are beyond dispute.

It must be remembered also that in their policies, neither has been a free agent. Both have necessarily operated within the ambit of government policy. As The Globe and Mail says of Mr. Gordon, "he and his executive team do not run the railway. The most they are allowed to do is to attempt with one hand to maintain sound operating procedures while, with the other, they attempt to satisfy the conflicting demands of the Board of Transport Commissioners, the railway unions and the politicians."

The campaign against Mr. Gordon—the more cowardly because it is conducted from behind by the government's agents—would be regrettable enough if it involved only the personal career of a great public servant. But as Mr. Gordon has felt compelled to say, it involves the future of the government's largest single business, the Canadian National Railways, undermines that organization, threatens its morale, weakens its competitive power and thus helps to increase its burden on the public treasury—a burden which certainly is not of Mr. Gordon's making.

If the government has a railway policy requiring the dismissal of Mr. Gordon, let it say so. Though the MacPherson royal commission has proposed such a policy (without any unfriendly reference to Mr. Gordon) the government has done nothing so far to implement these recommendations. Having no policy, the government uses a knife against the president of the C.N.R. but it will find that Mr. Gordon is not a man who can be so easily destroyed.

Another Priceless Asset

THE OPENING OF BAMBERTON Park, planned for next Saturday, draws further attention to the excellent job being done by the Department of Public Recreation and Conservation in establishing camping and picnic facilities at strategic spots on Vancouver Island and the mainland. The Bamberton site was in use last summer, but the accommodation has now been completed and this fine beach area will take its place as one of the most popular gathering places, whether for an afternoon or for several days.

With the relatively new Goldstream site, and older favorites at Englishman's River, Little Qualicum Falls and other points, Bamberton Park is a part of a public recreational system which is constantly growing in importance and also in demand.

Most of the better sites operate at capacity or near it throughout the summer months, catering to family groups which enjoy a few nights under canvas along with swimming, fishing and hiking. This is as fine an example of public use of public property as one could wish, and the government is to be congratulated not only on establishing the camps and picnic grounds—with more to come, it is hoped—but also on rejecting the demands of private resort owners that a charge be made for use of the provincial camps.

These are the people's parks and they should remain open to the people without further charges on top of what they pay in taxes. With water, wood and sanitary facilities available, the campers want nothing more. The more ornate types of camp, with showers, cook houses and other "home" amenities may properly be left to the private operators.

The climate and scenic outdoors of our Island are priceless assets. The growing public parks system enables us to enjoy them to better advantage.

Nehru Defines Communists

WHEN THE VOTERS OF Orissa, a state in India, went to the polls earlier this month, the Congress Party expected a reverse. So did most political observers.

When the votes were counted the Congress Party had its strongest majority in the state's history and observers began to weigh the result in terms of an index to the next general election.

During his personal participation in the campaign, Prime Minister Nehru aimed one focal idea at opposing candidates representing the Communist party, which lost ground. Communists, said Mr. Nehru, must be considered to be Indians who have no particular feeling for their own country.

The Prime Minister's words seem to have penetrated to the voters of India. The idea they express might profitably be exploited in other quarters where the ideology made in Moscow seeks to make use of the rising tide of nationalism.

How, the western propagandists might ask, can nationalism in its many burgeoning forms come to terms with people who have no particular feeling for their own nation?

Mr. Nehru has won a state election and produced a sharp semantic weapon against the enemy of the free world.

School and Jobs

THE MESSAGE IS HACKNEYED. The times call for its continuous repetition. No time is better than this when high school and university students are looking for summer jobs.

The spokesman on this occasion is Mr. Arthur J. Goldberg, United States Secretary of Labor. His remarks are addressed to American young people. They apply with equal force to Canadians.

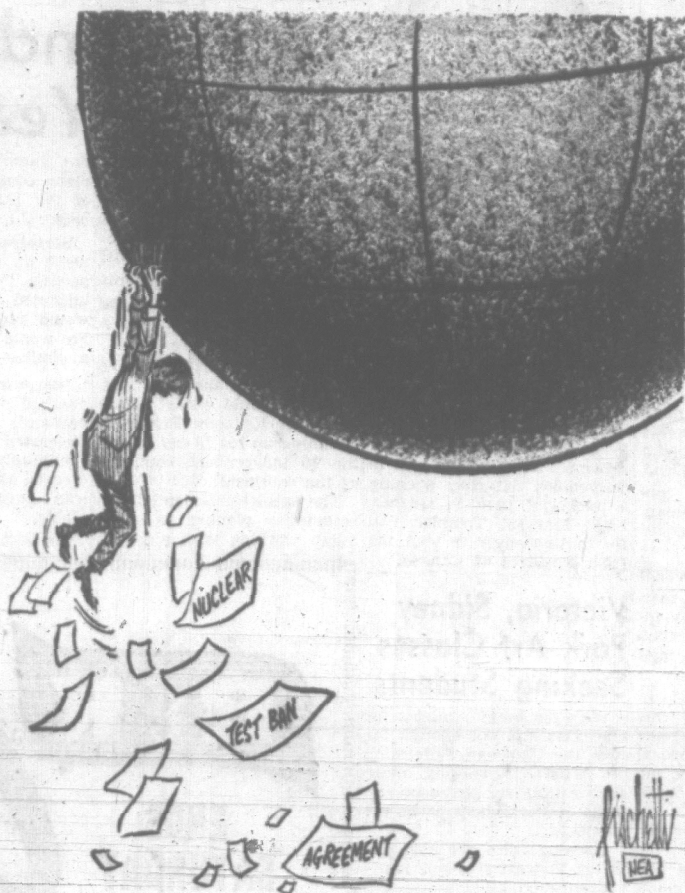

He says that with more and more high school graduates entering the work force every year a boy or girl needs more training and education to qualify for the jobs that are most attractive.

This leads to the conclusion that one of the most important things about seeking a summer job is to resolve to go back to school or college when the "vacation" is over.

For those who are leaving school and looking for work, opportunities are provided at night school and through correspondence to improve their capabilities and to equip them for the more attractive jobs.

History by Accident

THE financier will see in the affair of Mr. Coyne many grave consequences, the politician some endless vistas of opportunity; but even more fascinating, as it must seem to a layman, is the law of chance and sheer accident which appears here again, as always in Canadian history. A government makes certain plans. Everything is neatly arranged. No detail is neglected, all the loose ends tied up.

The governor of the central bank will resign and obligingly fade away. Then, without warning, the inevitable accident occurs. The governor refuses to resign and there is the very devil to pay. Poor Mr. Fleming, with all his careful precautions, has tripped over the eternal cussedness of things.

So, it has ever been in the life of Canada; no doubt in other nations, too, but especially in Canada, a land of chance and accident from the beginning.

DICKENS' Police Inspector Bucket laid down the immortal dictum that "any move is a probable move, as long as it is in the wrong direction." That great student of human nature would have been at home here.

Thus Champlain makes a casual sortie to the south, encounters the Iroquois, murders a few of them, unwittingly launches two centuries of war between Canada and its neighbors and prepares the bisection of a continent.

Montcalm foresees the risk of Wolfe's landing above Quebec, orders a strong guard at the danger point but a blundering governor countermands the order, a handful of sentries of the Anse au Foulon are asleep, the British soldiers climb the cliff without interference and win the Battle of the Plains.

A FEW years later, in 1775, the Americans march on Quebec when only one man can hope to hold it, but Guy Carleton is far away, in Montreal. He disguises himself in the rough clothes of a French Canadian habitant and slips down the St. Lawrence. The enemy's patrols see his boat but somehow lose it in the darkness. Quebec and Canada are saved by one man and a fluke.

Or again, what logic, what law of probability can explain the case of David Fife, the Upper Canada farmer? He asks a friend to bring him a sample of wheat from Europe and a few seeds, taken at random from the cargo of some foreign ship in Glasgow, sprout into seven seedlings on Fife's farm to produce Red Fife, the first wheat able to flourish in the climate of the western prairies. No one can tell where those seeds came from in the first place but by the strangest freak the secret of the West is unlocked.

Another half century passes, a railway has been flung across the plains but it is on the edge of bankruptcy, the workers unpaid, Van Horne desperate, Macdonald unable to get another penny from Parliament when luck appears again in the least expected place, the dusty Saskatchewan village of Batoche. Riel's second rebellion proves that the unfinished railway can carry troops, Parliament's faith in the CPR is revived, Macdonald can get more money and within months the first locomotive is rattling down the mountains to the Pacific.

ON the Pacific there would have been no white population, and no traffic even then if four unknown men, a few years earlier, had not camped, one autumn night, on a creek north of Quesnel Lake, prepared to retreat in despair next morning. In their last pan of gravel they discovered the golden treasure of British Columbia and started the rush to Cariboo.

These incidents and others may be called the chances of a primitive frontier, before modern men had perfected our economic and political system under strict, unfailing rules. But as late as 1926 the course of our politics turned on the wildest chance of all.

Prime Minister Meighen, newly called to office after the customs scandal and Mr. King's resignation, had counted noses in Parliament and knew he had a majority of one vote. As the division bells rang an opposition member who had been "paired" with a Conservative member and agreed to absent himself, suddenly arrived, out of sheer forgetfulness, and defeated the government. Hence the constitutional crisis and the triumph of Mr. King, whose career, until that hour, seemed to be in ruins.

ALL such blind contingencies, with their little bit of luck, are often highly inconvenient to statesmen, making politics an endless adventure, but they are comforting to the humble layman in this age of cold reason and irresistible forces. For they show, as in the case of Mr. Coyne, that the one incalculable factor left to this well-ordered world, the always improbable human creature, still counts for something after all.

SPRING SANITY

One spring day in Hyde Park I saw a man dressed in his city suit and bowler hat lean against a tree and put his arms round it. I thought he must be ill and went up to him: "You will perhaps think me foolish," he said, "but when I am particularly harassed in my office, I go to a tree for quietness and strength." I quite understood, because trees comfort me, and when I put my hands on one I feel a greater serenity.

FROM WASHINGTON

By MAX FREEDMAN

For Further Testing

WASHINGTON—The response in Congress to the speech by Congressman Hollifield, chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, shows that President Kennedy will be strongly supported by Republicans and Democrats if he decides to review nuclear testing on a limited scale. Congressman Hollifield has been a member of this committee since its formation 15 years ago. Its chairman is drawn alternately from the House and the Senate. He and Senator Anderson are now the two ablest members. It is inconceivable that Mr. Kennedy would make a decision on nuclear tests without giving the greatest weight to the committee views.

Freedman

Three weeks ago Congressman Hollifield led a group of Senators and Congressmen representing the committee to the Geneva Conference. While there he received confidential reports from Mr. Dean, the chief American negotiator, and from members of Mr. Dean's staff.

On June 2, at Mr. Kennedy's request, Mr. Hollifield flew to Paris to give the president his estimate of the Geneva Conference. Four days later Mr. Kennedy reported to the nation that the hopes for agreement at Geneva had receded.

World Opinion

The White House would act at once on the matter of tests if it did not have to concern itself with world opinion. It is on this point that the Republican and Democratic leadership in Congress now divides.

The Republicans want the United States to resume testing by an independent decision in Washington, without too much anxiety over the opinions of other governments, and after serving notice on Russia that it would have no longer than two or three months to seek agreement in Geneva.

The Democrats are seriously concerned over the danger of world criticism of a sudden American decision to resume the tests. They neither wish to end the Geneva Conference nor do they wish to negotiate with Russia against a deadline.

They are particularly anxious to avoid giving offence to opinion in Britain and India, since the verdict in these two countries will largely determine the international judgment of America's policy.

These divisions are not absolute. The Republican members on the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy agree with Mr. Hollifield and his Democratic colleagues. In the Senate some Democrats follow the lead of Senator Dodd in supporting the Republican criticism of the Geneva negotiations. But as a generally it may be said that Mr. Hollifield speaks for a strong majority in Congress. That majority wants Mr. Kennedy in the next few weeks to give the order for limited tests.

As part of the campaign to educate world opinion the state department is now preparing a detailed account of the Geneva negotiations. It believes that its report will be especially persuasive because it will provide factual evidence of Russia's opposition to an agreement and will avoid more propaganda points against the Soviet Union.

Profound Impact

Everyone senses that a decision to resume testing, so soon after the Vienna Conference, will have the most profound impact on world affairs. It will indeed be a fateful decision from which we will be able to date many important events.

Three separate agreements have influenced the thinking of Congress in favor of resumed tests. There is, first, the suspicion that Russia has been conducting secret tests; and the related conviction that the United States cannot afford to risk its security by giving Russia the benefit of doubt.

Then there is the conviction that Russia is gaining an undeserved advantage by spinning out the talks in Geneva, thus creating an unpolluted moratorium open to abuse and cheating.

Finally there is the conviction that renewed testing would let the United States develop new weapons, at once smaller and less destructive, without causing serious risk of radio-active fallout in the atmosphere. High on the list of priorities is the development of a smaller Polaris missile that can be carried in a cheaper and more compact submarine.

The Important 'Invisibles'

Britain, like most other countries including Canada, has felt the effects of changes in the pattern of world commerce. The following editorial from The Times of London gives a clear picture of the factors involved.

FOR over a century Britain has been able to lean heavily on "invisible" exports to help balance her foreign trade. In 10 out of the past 15 years this invisible income—made up of payments by foreigners for using British ships, spending in Britain by foreign tourists, the interest, profits, and dividends, earned on our overseas investments, payments from foreign governments, and the earnings from the thousand and one financial services of the City of London—has been enough to turn a deficit on visible trade into a payments surplus.

Even after allowing for payments the other way (British payments to foreigners), it has usually produced foreign exchange worth £200m. net annually. Then years ago it reached over £400m. net. In 1960 it sank to £22m. net, the lowest figure since 1947. Now it is in danger of vanishing.

What has gone wrong? Out of the five main sources of this income—Government transactions, shipping income, interest payments (including profits and dividends), travel receipts, and the financial services of the City of London—only the last two items have shown any sign of standing their ground. In all the others there has been a marked deterioration.

Invisible transactions on Government account last year produced a net deficit of just under £300m., most of the money going on military establishments abroad and on colonial development. Military spending overseas has more than doubled in a decade, rising from £100m. in 1950 to £215m. last year. Colonial welfare grants, too, have continued to rise.

Disappointing Trend

All this has been an understandable, though disappointing, trend. What is far more difficult to accept is that Britain, as one of the leading maritime nations, is no longer able to earn a net income from shipping.

The shipping industry still managed to earn £644m. last year in carrying foreign cargoes in British vessels. The trouble is that Britain had to pay even more—£669m.—to foreign shipowners for carrying British goods round the world, with the result that a traditional source of foreign exchange has now moved into deficit.

Britain still has the world's largest active merchant fleet, but the share of other countries has been growing. World trade, too, has been expanding fastest in areas, such as continental Europe, where foreign ships have a large stake, and expanding more slowly in the sterling area where British lines predominate. British ships have thus been carrying a smaller share of world trade and of British imports and exports.

The third major element in Britain's invisible income—interest, profits, and dividends—includes the return on British money invested abroad and the foreign earnings of the oil industry less the amount paid out by British investors (and the government) on foreign money lent to Britain.

This still produces a healthy surplus of close on £180m., though no longer as large as it used to be. The deterioration is not difficult to trace.

Interest rates have risen persistently since they were reintroduced as a monetary weapon in 1951, thus pushing up the cost of payments to all the holders of sterling balances abroad.

Secondly it has come as something of a shock to find that interest and dividend payments on foreign industrial investments in Britain have lately been rising faster than the earnings from corresponding British investments abroad.

The explanation is probably that foreign money has been going primarily into manufacturing industry, where the return has been immediately profitable, whereas a significant part of British capital is invested in plantations and mines which no longer provide such a useful return.

Oil Earnings

Finally, oil earnings overseas have suffered from the current world oil surplus. The drop in world oil prices has more than offset any rise in the volume sold, and, with Russian offerings hanging over the market, little immediate relief can be expected.

Even in the two areas where invisible earnings have been maintained some of the former buoyancy seems to have disappeared. The tourist trade is a double-edged weapon.

While foreign tourists have doubled their spending in Britain over the past 10 years, so have British tourists abroad. The net balance, therefore, has changed little, though Britain's deficit of £17m. in 1960 contrasts with the large travel surpluses now being earned by both France and Italy. Earnings from financial services—insurance underwriting, banking facilities, and merchanting and brokerage transactions—still bring in a useful £100m. to £150m. every year, but have stopped expanding at the rapid rate of the early postwar years. After trebling between 1946 and 1956, they have remained virtually unchanged since.

The former earning power has disappeared from an important sector of Britain's foreign payments. Can the old drive be regained? It is tempting to believe that the individual parts can be tackled piecemeal, that 1960 was an exceptionally bad year, and that an adjustment here and a little tinkering there may still do the trick.

But what has to be recognized is that Government expenditure abroad, the heavy spending of British tourists, and the encroachment of foreign shipping are all part of a longer-term trend that may prove difficult to reverse, without major changes in Government policy.

As Our Readers See It

Suffering in Algeria

We have all been reading of the exciting events in Algeria, but little is heard of the sufferings of the ordinary people, particularly the older ones and the children.

The Right Honorable James Griffiths, chairman of the War on Want Committee set up in London, England, has authorized the following statement:

"Algerians—in terror, in hunger, in disease—Algerians. Nearly 1.5 millions of them, mostly old people and children... innocent victims of war. Herded into camps, deprived of freedom, encircled with barbed wire and guarded by troops. Without enough food to maintain health, without proper medical care. In some camps two out of three have died. In all the camps humanity rots. They are called 'regroupment camps'—another name might come to your mind. We can get aid to them. Please help us to help the helpless. They are of the family of God and they are your family also."

This was published in the English Quaker magazine, The Friend, recently. The Canadian Friends Service Committee is glad to assist and the local group of Quakers supports them. Contributions will be most gratefully received by the local relief treasurer.

Daydream of a Lean Man

IN ONE of my better daydreams, I acquire a small, rocky island just off Victoria's coast. Gaining possession of the island is quite a chore in itself. The rock is under federal government jurisdiction and there are yagis of red tape to cut before I can assume ownership.

Stott

Cutting red-tape is one of the minor pleasures of daydreams, and in my vagary, I'm soon in occupation. There is the small matter of getting fresh water to the island. Various I have it piped under the narrow gut separating me from the main island, dig a well and find some chemical which makes brackish or salt water potable, or establish a cistern.

For the time being I forego electricity to avoid radio, television and radio-telephone.

On my island I set up a Robinson Crusoe menage, complete with goat. I grub out a small garden patch in the scanty soil and subsist on the fish I catch and goat milk with a few greens thrown in. Because it's only a daydream, I'm not concerned by the fact that I don't eat fish and don't like goat's milk.

My first chore, of course, is to build a log cabin of trunks thrown onto the beach by high-tide. Building log cabins is another favorite daydream of mine. In addition to giving me shelter, construction helps me to work up a healthy sweat, learn how to use my hands again and clears what passes for my mind of all but the simplicities.

Having conditioned myself by hard but not exhausting labor, I have an idea—still daydreaming—that it might be possible to give the thinking processes a revised and simplified approach.

A society which lards me over physically with adipose tissue because I eat too well and exercise too little, also seems to have placed too much fat between my ears—fat created by the assimilation of predigested thought, or more destructively, preconceived impressions fed to me by the techniques of mental salesmanship.

It ought to be possible, if a man got away from it all, to sort out the diet provided for him and start selecting what he wanted and believed he needed in mental fare. Somewhere, if physical existence were reduced to Spartan terms, he ought to be able to get away from the cream puffs, the ready-mix concoctions, the "instant" preparations that are served as ideas to him in a dozen different forms all day, every day.

Somehow he should be able to regain a pretty sharp sense of discrimination that would help him to shun the tempting fluffiness of cleverly-prepared dishes so many offer his jaded mind. He ought to be able to recognize the meat and potatoes of stable intellectual fare, with sufficient greens added to keep him healthy.

He finds himself now circling a smorgasbord of infinite variety and eye-catching appeal. He tends to stuff himself with a little of this, a little of that and a lot of what doesn't agree with him.

Maybe he could cure these inclinations with a short stretch of solitude living close to basic essentials and trying to make his mind conform to a similar regimen.

The image is interesting—the recreation of a lean man with a lean but active mind, removed from the excesses of modern life, a man with the time and the will to think.

This is only a daydream, of course, probably predicated on a faulty premise. Are there any simplicities today? Have there ever been?

HOME GARDEN

By JACK BEASTALL

Plants Neglected in Watering

During the two or three warm days of last week hoses and sprinklers were very much in evidence.

These were seen mainly on lawns, and as I drove past house after house it occurred to me that lawns get far more water than is necessary while other plants are left to fend for themselves.

Particularly have I noticed how foundation and patio plantings are neglected. Although many gardeners believe these areas are taken care of when the lawn is watered, the condition of the plants clearly indicate this is not the case.

I have pointed out to gardeners the difference in the appearance of the foliage on conifers against the house to those in a well-watered bed in the open garden. Even the feel of the foliage will indicate when foundation plants are not getting the amount of water they need.

When the gardener's attention is drawn to this condition it usually results in the question of how often watering should be done.

Because of the diverse conditions involved there can be no set rule of thumb. The only sure way for the home gardener to determine the moisture content of the soil at root level is to dig a small hole from eight to ten inches deep.

It is often amazing how dry the soil can be at this depth, and it is readily apparent why the plants are not doing so well.

Strange as it may seem, plants do a lot better when the time for watering is determined by the trowel and spade rather than by the calendar.

Bonn Defends Official In Eichmann Charges

BONN (UPI)—The West German government of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer lined up squarely behind its secretary of state today and prepared to defend him against any further charges by Adolf Eichmann.

Eichmann, on trial in Jerusalem for allegedly masterminding the war-time slaughter of six million Jews, Wednesday accused Dr. Hans Globke of aiding the Nazi government. He said Globke, now secretary of state, helped strip Jews of their property and citizenship under Adolf Hitler.

The Bonn government issued a fast denial and asserted that Globke's post in the Nazi ministry of the interior was not high enough to enlarge Eichmann's section of the former Reich main security office.

"Dr. Globke was never responsible for the extradition of Jews or for the confiscation of Jewish property," the federal chancellery announced in a statement.

JFK Appoints Negro

WASHINGTON (Reuters)—President Kennedy Wednesday night announced the appointment of Frank D. Reeves, a Negro and a native of Montreal, as one of the three commissioners who administer the District of Columbia, the capital of the United States. Reeves, 35, is the first Negro commissioner in the history of Washington.

WAR OF NERVES CONTINUES

NATO 'Alert' On Berlin Threat

LONDON (Reuters)—Informed sources here said today Western powers are considering a greater state of alert for NATO forces as an answer to the new Russian threat to Berlin.

The threat to the divided city was tied in with Soviet Premier Khrushchev's announcement to a mass meeting in Moscow that he will sign a peace treaty with East Germany at the end of this year.

The Soviet premier also told the meeting, called to mark the 20th anniversary of Nazi Germany's attack on the Soviet Union, that "the moment the U.S. resumes nuclear tests, the Soviet Union will do so too."

The double-barrelled warnings were weighed coolly by Western leaders.

REMARKS NO SURPRISE

A West German foreign office spokesman said in Bonn that the Russian leader's remarks were "no surprise, but rather more precise than before" on the timing of a German peace treaty.

British observers viewed Khrushchev's speech as his latest move to keep up a war on nerves on Berlin.

Khrushchev in his memorandum to President Kennedy said that he thought six months a "sufficient period" for East and West to negotiate a four-power guaranteed settlement—a remark which Communist

CANADIAN NOW

Robin Hood Founder of Foresters

The Canadian Order of Foresters is descended from the Ancient Order of Foresters founded in England around the time of Robin Hood and his Merry Men.

"We are an all-Canadian institution," says O. E. Cook, public relations director of the order, which is now holding its 76th High Court Convention at the Empress Hotel.

Mr. Cook said the Canadian order was founded at London, Ont., 82 years ago by a handful of enthusiasts.

It has since grown to a membership of nearly 50,000, with assets amounting to $25,000,000 and a total insurance in force of $60,000,000.

After a High Court session Wednesday afternoon, the 600 members and wives from all parts of Canada were taken on a sightseeing tour of Lower Vancouver Island.

The convention continues today.

The charges were contained in the second vice-president's annual report, which was filed without debate.

In his own report earlier, Mr. Porter praised the federal government for increasing pensions to "burned-out" veterans by 20 per cent.

"I contend, however, if they can do this for the burned-out veterans they can do the same thing for our civilian veterans who kept things going at home," he said.

He urged the organization to continue its efforts to get a basic monthly pension of $100.

More than 100 delegates from all parts of the province met in St. John's Church Hall for the opening session.

Mrs. Walton Dies at 82;

Rites Friday

Mrs. Helen Josephine Walton, 82, widow of Geoffrey H. Walton, a prominent Victoria lumberman, died Tuesday in hospital after a lengthy illness.

She was born on Staten Island, N.J., and went to Winnipeg with her family in 1881. She and Mr. Walton came to Victoria in 1912 and in 1913 bought the Deans farm at Lansdowne and Richmond, which was Mrs. Walton's home until her death.

A feature of the property is a giant cherry tree planted in 1858, and with a spread of more than 60 feet. It is believed to be the biggest and one of the oldest on Vancouver Island.

Her paternal grandfather was a member of the Bowes-Lyon family of Scotland, and her maternal grandfather, Amos Hawley Vaughan, was a prominent Manitoba surveyor.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Ian H. Macdonald, Peggy Walton Packard, and Miss Amy Walton, all of Victoria; two sons, Geoffrey H. in Nakusp, and T. O'D. Walton, Victoria; six grandchildren, three brothers in Winnipeg and Edmonton, and two sisters in Vancouver.

Funeral will be held Friday at 2:30 p.m. at St. Luke's Church, Cedar Hill Cross Road, and will be followed by cremation. McCall's are in charge of arrangements.

About 90 per cent of the 75 branches in B.C. are represented at the three-day convention.

Delegates were welcomed to Victoria by John Milling, president of Victoria Branch No. 5, and heard an official address of welcome from Mayor Percy Scurrah later in the day.

Part of Wednesday's program was a talk on traffic rules and safety by Inspector Brooke Douglass of the city police.

Today, Glen Hamilton, of the Silver Threads Service, will organize a trip for delegates to some of the senior citizens' housing projects in the area.

32-Day Trip To Hawaii By Guzzwells

Globe-girdling small-boatman John Guzzwell has reached Hawaii after a 32-day passage from Victoria, it was reported from Honolulu Wednesday.

His wife, Maureen, accompanied him on the voyage. Guzzwell sailed the 20-foot Trekka, in which he made an historic single-handed round-the-world voyage.

There has been some speculation that he might continue on from Hawaii alone for another world voyage, but he said in Honolulu he would sail back to Victoria after a six-week vacation.

Guzzwell, a skilled shipwright, had been employed at a private boatyard on Gouge Island, near Sidney, when he left on short notice.

Britain Can Get Painting Back

LONDON (AP)—An American oil magnate offered today to sell a Goya portrait of the Duke of Wellington to Britain's National Gallery for the $392,000 price he paid for it last week.

Planned Growth, Capital Needed in North—Bennett

JUNEAU, Alaska (CP)—Premier Bennett of British Columbia Wednesday challenged Prime Minister Diefenbaker to do something about his "northern vision" and President Kennedy to implement his "new frontier" policy.

4 FERRIES FOR ALASKA

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—Contracts for four sea-going ferries for Alaska will be let during the summer. Three identical ferries, for service between Prince Rupert, Haines and Skagway, will be built under one contract.

A second contract will be let for a smaller ferry which will operate between Kodiak Island and the Kenai Peninsula.

The larger ferries will be about 350 feet long with a displacement of 3,400 tons. They will carry 108 automobiles and 500 passengers and operate at about 21 knots.

The smaller boat will be 250 feet long with a 60-car, 260-passenger capacity.

The ferries were designed by P. F. Spaulding, Seattle naval architect.

HOW MANY MILES SHOULD A TRUCK LAST?

It depends on the driver—on the care that a truck is given—and on the manner in which the truck was built. Let's assume the first two factors are average... the driver is reasonably considerate of his truck—the maintenance it receives is sensible and regular. Now, the mileage we can expect depends on how the truck is built.

WHY IS THE ENGINE YOU CHOOSE SO IMPORTANT?

Let's talk engines. For this is the heart of truck performance. And it's here that Chevrolet V-8's and 6's have proven their dependable worth. Naturally, Chevrolet gives you a choice of power plants... but they all have something in common. Namely, overhead valves, Moraine bearings and full pressure lubrication, all specially designed for long engine life. And, as a bonus while you enjoy this extended engine life, Chevrolet has married economy to power in the performance of its various engines — so that with a Chevrolet Truck you have the pulling-power when you need it, and gas economy full-time!

Then there are the myriad of "small" features that help extend the life of Chevrolet Trucks. Extra-big capacity brakes... precision ball-gear steering to minimize friction and steering effort... torque-tailored clutches and super-tough transmissions!

So how many miles should your Chevrolet Truck last? Frankly — we can't pin it down to a figure. Certainly, there are thousands of Chevrolet Trucks across Canada with thousands of profit miles behind them. Who knows, perhaps you'll retire before your truck does. But one thing we can say with surety: your Chevrolet Truck has been built to give you the best performance throughout the longest possible lifetime. And with a Chevrolet Truck, every mile you drive will be a profitable one. Choose your Work-Proved Chevrolet Truck at your dealer's today.

WHY DO SOME SUSPENSIONS LAST AND LAST?

Let's talk suspension. Here's another way in which Chevrolet extends truck life... truck-tailored rear suspension in combination with Chevy's famous Independent Front Suspension with torsion springs. Before Chevrolet pioneered this suspension system, road bumps used to be transmitted directly to the chassis — and to the sheet metal and load. But now with Independent Front Suspension and vari-rate rear springs Chevrolet Trucks dissipate the bumps, reduce chassis strain, minimize tire abuse, load damage and driver fatigue. Another way of adding more and more miles to the life of a Chevrolet Truck.

NOW CONSIDER TRUCK FRAMES FOR A MOMENT

Chevrolet Heavy-Duty Trucks are built with a variety of frames tailor-made for a variety of trucking jobs. For example, if you spend all of your driving time off the highway, Chevy recommends one of their flexible frames that supports and gives when giving is the wisest course. If your chore calls for extra heavy highway loads, Chevy has a frame that fills that bill, too. In fact, Chevrolet Trucks come to you with the "just-right" frame for your job. And because of that, months and months of life are added to your Chevrolet Truck — miles and miles of profitable hauling.

Labor Makes New Bid To Induce IWA Back

Victoria Labor Council — with backing from the Canadian Labor Congress — will re-new efforts to bring the 1,500-member IWA local back into the fold.

Council delegates Wednesday night approved an executive council recommendation that the IWA again be urged to reaffiliate.

Woodsmen dropped out of the labor council, representing more than 8,000 tradesmen and organized workers, when it charged political action policies were too soft.

POSITION MAINTAINED

An executive-level meeting last week between a special council committee and the IWA Local 1-118 resulted in reaffirmation of the woodworkers' position.

In a letter to council, the IWA said it decided against reaffiliation because the council's attitude toward political action had not changed appreciably since the disaffiliation in March.

Council secretary A. W. Toone said, in reporting the work of the special committee, there is "still some difference of opinion on the interpretation of congress policies."

OTHER APOSTATES

He quoted a letter from CLC executive vice-president William Dodge, who said: "I would respectfully suggest that the Victoria local should get back into good standing with the council."

Mr. Toone referred to other meetings with locals which had departed from the council in recent months.

The Street Railway Employees, who left because they oppose political action, replied "We agree wholeheartedly that solidarity is most important and should be the aim of all unions."

B.C. Government Employees' Association was forced to withdraw on the basis of political neutrality for servants of the Crown.

Mr. Toone reported the meeting with its representatives "maintained contact and good relations."

He said the Shipwrights and Joiners, who withdrew for financial reasons mainly, indicated reaffiliation in the not too distant future.

Before the disaffiliations the labor council represented some 13,000 workers in the Victoria District.

It is expected a more united front will be formed after the founding convention of the New Party next month.

NEW OFFICERS of Victoria Optimist Club, headed by president Joe MacBride (above), will take office July 1. They are Al White, first vice-president; Stan Hyland, second vice-president; William Cathro, secretary; and Bert Whyte, treasurer. Serving on the board of governors will be Ron Douglas, Al Collier, Jack Perry and Don Cranna. New directors are Jack Price, Fred Tanner, Harry Davis and Harry Rennie.

Additional Gift From Foresters To Cancer Drive

Victoria Conquer Cancer Campaign was given a $600 gift from two local courts of the Canadian Order of Foresters Tuesday night.

Foresters' campaign chairman Joseph Edgington gave cancer chairman Dugald Gillespie a cheque for the amount as one of the larger donations in the first stages of the campaign.

The amount is separate from $60,000 raised for the Canadian Cancer Society by other Foresters across the country.

He came to Victoria five years ago, and since his arrival the congregation has built a new church edifice, which opened just a year ago.

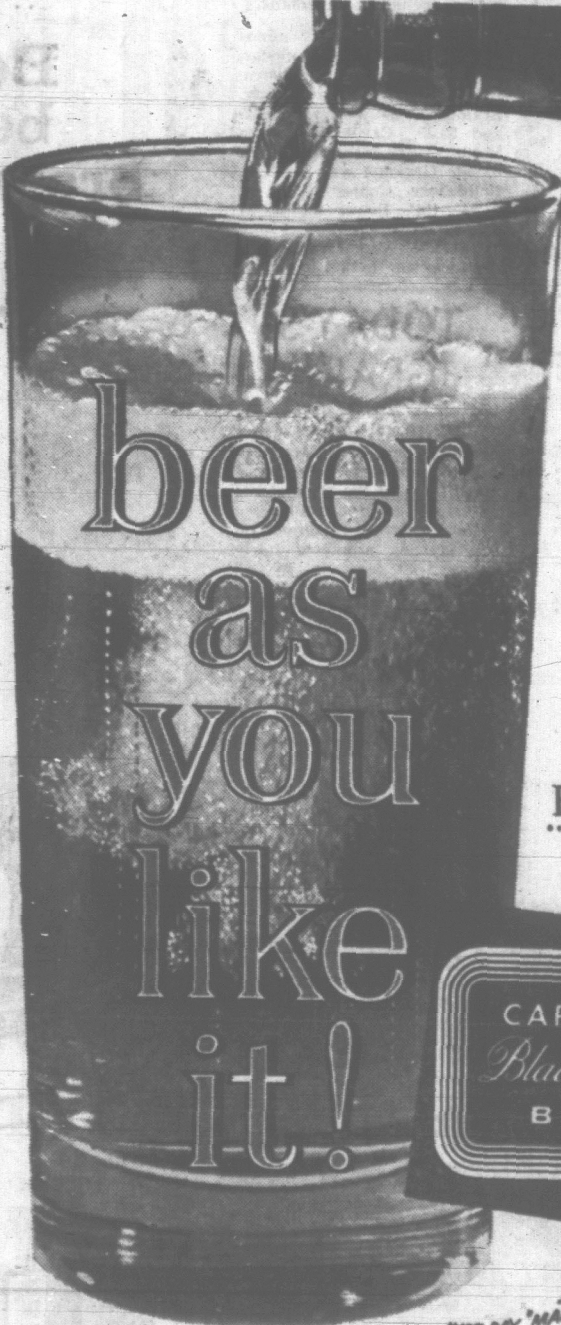

The social hour will be held in the lower auditorium after a farewell service of worship.

BUSINESS FAILURES SHOW DROP

OTTAWA (CP) — There were 729 business failures in Canada in the first quarter of the year.

This was a decrease of 3.8 per cent, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today, from the 758 total of the same period last year.

Liabilities of the companies totalled $26,999,000 compared with $28,495,000 a year ago.

CGE VS. JAPAN

Battle Of Lights Shapes Up

VANCOUVER (CP) — Coloured tree lights, as much a part of Christmas as snow, mistletoe and plum pudding, will be the focal point of a multi-million-dollar battle between Canadian General Electric Co. Ltd. and importers of Japanese lights.

The showdown will be crammed into a three-week period next Christmas when Canadians buy some 35,000,000 lights, a $5,000,000 market.

CGE has pumped $2,000,000 into the circuit in an effort to gain a major share of the Canadian market dominated by importers selling Japanese lights during the last three years.

"We've made a complete study of the market, streamlined our plants, used Canadian materials, know-how and ingenuity to produce a lamp that will compete favorably with low-cost imports from Japan," said J. V. Cox, Toronto, CGE merchandizing manager.

MANY QUIT

He told a press conference here Wednesday that Japanese products have captured the market so completely that many Canadian firms have been forced to quit or cutback production and operate almost without profit.

Marketing Christmas tree lights is a new venture for CGE, said Mr. Cox, although the company has manufactured them for more than 30 years.

"Previously, we sold to private organizations in bulk and they assembled the lights, packaged and sold them to department food stores and distributors."

"Our study revealed we had to do more than just streamline our plants. We had to streamline the marketing procedure and to do so had to enter the selling field ourselves. Otherwise, we would have to scrap this part of our business."

CGE will produce 18,000,000 lights in its $2,000,000 gamble to fight off foreign competition.

"This program has meant an additional 500,000 hours of work for men in our plants. These jobs would be lost if we followed other companies and withdrew from the field in the face of competition from Japanese products."

DOMINATE MARKET

Canadians are interested in buying a Canadian product even if it costs more, said Mr. Cox. In 1960 Canadian-produced replacement lamps held 56 per cent of the market. But the big inroads made by importers was in the selling of sets where they held 76 per cent of the market.

Five years ago, said Mr. Cox, importers sold 2,000,000 Japanese lights. In 1960 they sold 23,000,000. During same period CGE bulk sales dropped to 4,000,000 from 13,000,000 despite the over-all Canadian market rising to 35,000,000 from 27,000,000.

Coupled with CGE's switch to marketing has been its decision to simplify for customers the names and terms of various lights. Lights once named C-17 transparent have been dubbed a sparkle light.

Packaging also has taken a new turn, with wholesale shipments made in smaller lots to encourage small shops and stores to enter the field and the individual cartons for customers are easily converted into a storage container for after-Christmas use.

CGE has decided to sell the lamps and strings separately, allowing customers to select their own colors and styles, said Mr. Cox.

Confusion, Frantic Trading Highlight Dollar Dealings

By AL COLLETTI

Canadian Press Staff Writer

"Pity the poor currency trader," said one harried foreign exchange dealer after Wednesday's heavy dealings in the Canadian dollar. He's going to go home nights making three tracks.

The Canadian dollar sold at its lowest price in the New York, Montreal and London exchanges since the Canadian government lifted controls completely nine and one-half years ago.

It sold at a discount, where for years it had been at a premium.

There is no way of keeping an exact count of trading volume in currency, but the New York foreign exchange market is known to have the world's largest turnover in Canadian dollars. One expert said, the trading Wednesday was unprecedented.

It all started after Finance Minister Fleming disclosed in his budget message Tuesday night that the government plans to drive the Canadian dollar to a "substantial discount," but he didn't say how far down.

TRADING FRANTIC

Canada's currency management has one of the best records in the world, but this did not mean much Wednesday in the confusion and frantic trading that followed nearly a week of deterioration in the value of the Canadian currency.

The price of the Canadian dollar changed almost from sale to sale Wednesday and the Royal Bank of Canada advised its offices not to make any currency sales without first consulting head office in Montreal.

In New York, several traders went short on the Canadian dollar, which closed at 97.37 cents Wednesday after hitting a low of 96.75 and a high of 98. The Canadian dollar closed at par with the U.S. dollar Tuesday night.

(In other words, the shorts borrowed and sold the currency at a higher price with the hope of buying it back at a lower price later on. In London Wednesday the Canadian dollar opened at around 95 or 96 cents. A few hours later in New York it opened at 97. Traders attributed the difference between the two openings to buying by dealers on the short side to cover their positions.

Foreign exchange experts said the Canadian dollar has churned up "substantial" activity and at least one, Franz Pick, published of the authoritative Pick's Currency Yearbook, said the turnover was unprecedented.

The New York Herald Tribune said there was "widespread conviction that the disorder in the market would continue until Mr. Fleming gave some indication of the point at which he wants the dollar to stabilize."

The New York Times said there were reliable reports the Canadian government already was moving to stop the fluctuations by use of the Bank of Canada's exchange fund.

Canada's gold and United States dollar reserves now stand at slightly less than $2,000,000,000.

The Canadian dollar's free or unofficial market rate is based on the free quotation of the unit in New York. Until now the huge influx of United States investment capital into Canada kept the Canadian dollar at a premium, hitting a high of more than 6 per cent last year.

Tommy Hit Right Trail When He Dropped Chip

McVie Spark for Nanaimo As Vics Miss Big Chance

Nanaimo 9, Victoria 6
By DOUG PEDEN

It was a happy day for the Nanaimo lacrosse club when Tommy McVie shrugged the chip off his shoulder.

McVie, a versatile young man better known for his Western Hockey League exploits with Seattle, turned his talents to the boxla pastime four years ago. For the first couple of lacrosse summers, Tommy flitted around aimlessly with a chip balanced precariously atop his shoulder pads, daring all and sundry to knock it off.

Frequent skirmishes and trips to the penalty box were proof that McVie found lots of challengers. Always looking like a good lacrosse player, he became more adept at dealing out elbow jabs and whacks across ears than he did at passing and potting goals.

Last season, trigger-fingered Tommy tossed the chip in the trash-can and started paying strict attention to his boxla knitting. Before the summer ended he was a stand-out on the Nanaimo club that went to the Mann Cup final.

He's still improving in the current campaign and McVie never looked more like a star than he did at Memorial Arena Wednesday night as Nanaimo shuffled slowly to a 9-6 victory over a loose-checking Victoria squad.

REGULARS ABSENT

On a coaltown club weakened by the absence of several regulars, McVie did just about everything. He paced all point-getters with two goals and an assist, checked like a demon and steadied his mates whenever the Vics threatened to pull even.

After dropping behind 2-0 in the opening period, the Vics threatened several times, pulling within one goal on five occasions. Nanaimo was ripe for the plucking, but the Victorians couldn't find the hustle and the shooting accuracy they needed to chalk up their first win of the season.

The last time the Vics looked like they might make it was at 10 seconds of the final quarter when Bill Gray fired a goal to trim the Nanaimo lead to 7-6.

DUBIOUS PENALTY

Then veteran Arnie Dugan, looking too plump for his uniform and about as mobile as a tank, plodded in to make it 8-6 at 3:35. For the rest of the route, the Hub City crew played for possession, waiting for the Vics to make mistakes. One of the errors allowed Ed MacDonald to scamper in for the final tally and when Victoria's John Hanson was assessed a dubious penalty with just over five minutes remaining, it was all over for the Vics.

It was a game Victoria should have won and one coach Arnie Ferguson's charges needed badly to spur warning hopes of a playoff spot. Now trailing their island rivals by nine points, they hit the halfway mark of the schedule at Nanaimo Saturday night.

SHORT ON HUSTLE

"I'm very disappointed," said Ferguson. "I thought we'd win this one but we did not play at all well. We weren't hustling and some of the veterans weren't pulling their weight. The referees didn't beat us, but there were some doubtful calls that hurt us when it seemed we might start moving."

For the record, the Vics picked up 20 minutes in penalties plus a misconduct sentence to Al Davies. The surprisingly mild Nanaimo crew was assessed just 10 minutes.

Across the corridor, Nanaimo coach Red McMillan was happily tossing praise at McVie.

"Tommy was a forward until last year," said Red. "When I switched him to defence he started to come. Now he's one of the best in the league and nobody's better on loose balls. He was our big man tonight."

COMING INTO OWN

McVie puts it this way: "I only started playing lacrosse four years ago," he said. "Actually I feel I'm just coming into my own."

"I really didn't know what it was all about until last year. I used to be hot tempered because I figured my ability was not enough to get me by. Now I feel I know enough that I don't have to use rough tactics."

"When you get to the point where you know what a game is all about, you don't have to run around like a maniac."

But as far as the Vics are concerned, the now sane and sensible McVie is playing like crazy, man.

CHALK UP ONE FOR CHUMMY

Down on knees, Victoria goalie Chummy Crabbe scoops up shot by Nanaimo's John Coleman (right) as Al Davies (5) rushes in to help netminder. Watching at left are Victoria's Jack May and Bob

McKee (2) of Nanaimo. Crabbe made 21 saves but Vics dropped 9-6 decision in Wednesday's Inter-City Lacrosse League tussle. (Times photo by Bill Halkett.)

SIDELINE SLANTS

BY

Doug Peden

Vancouver golf writers are off on their annual pitch-and-putt pilgrimage—beating the selection committee to the punch and picking their own Willingdon Cup teams. One columnist climbed onto his usual early-summer bandwagon again last week, naming the quartet that should represent the province in the annual inter-provincial matches with an all-Vancouver cast, of course.

There's nothing wrong with a guy saying who he thinks should be on the team. That's something anybody from bottle-collector to prime minister should be able to do. But taking just half a look is a birdie or another color.

Let's take a squint at a couple of chunks in the middle of the column:

"Before we go any further," it says, "let's say the Willingdon Cup team has to be composed of Bob Kidd and Johnny Johnston of Marine Drive, Johnny Russell of Point Grey and Ticehurst of McCleery."

"And at the risk of wakening up the good citizens of Victoria, let's forget about the Island golfers. For too many years the selection committee has been picking golfers from Victoria simply because Victoria is there, or so it seems. (In proportion to the number of golfers worthy of a cup berth, Victoria has too much to say in the choosing of the team.)"

"Victoria golfers have proven time and again they cannot keep pace with Vancouver golfers on foreign courses. Not that they don't have the basic talent, but because they don't get the rugged competition that is available here..."

Neat Bit of Explaining for Bert

And then there was the neat bit of explaining why Bert Ticehurst came in with a pair of 76s in the Vancouver Amateur:

"... Bert had one of those days in which nothing goes right. The breaks were against him and he admittedly hit some sloppy golf shots. However, he fought his way out of difficult situations with a tenacity that is needed on a Willingdon Cup team."

"Many other golfers in the same field, faced with the same unfortunate circumstances, would have blown sky-high and would have been just as likely to come in with a pair of 80s. The point is, Ticehurst fights back..."

That's just a nice way of saying that the way Bert was playing he deserved to have a pair of 80s. And let it be recorded that a tournament golfer who doesn't fight back is a rarity rather than an average guy. On this sleepy little island we just happen to believe that courage is an ordinary attribute of Canadian athletes.

Besides, I'll take a couple of faint-hearted 72s over a pair of courageous 76s any time.

On the business of performances on "foreign" courses, our scribe would have had to scratch back a long way to find where a mainland swinger had won an important title on a Victoria course before Ron Wilby picked up the PNW crown last summer at Oak Bay.

Bill Did All Right In Hostile East

Gorge Vale's Bill Wakeham, who made the team a few years back only after arguments against Vancouver pressure went into the small hours, responded by winning the Canadian junior crown in the hostile east. And last summer Bill qualified for the Canadian Amateur at Ottawa ahead of Vancouver aces Johnston and Joe Jeroski. Johnny reached the semis, Bill made it to the third round before being edged one-up by Mexico's Robert Halpern, and Joe was bounced in the first round.

Johnston, who won the Canadian Amateur in 1960—on a home-town course, match—Kidd and Russell look like good bets for the squad. Ticehurst can hardly be a more likely choice than Wakeham, who had competitive rounds of 71, 72, 69, 71 and 72 before skidding to a "fighting" 78 in the final round of the Zone I tourney last Sunday.

If Colwood's Laurie Kerr, reigning B.C. and City Amateur and Zone I king, was available to make the trip with the B.C. squad, he would be hard to overlook, even from Vancouver. Laurie was just six over par for his last five tournament rounds and, after a great 67 in Wednesday's matches, even par for five inter-club golf league tussles.

Team Always Picked on Fair Basis

However, there's no reason to believe that pre-selection prognostication is going to sway the B.C. committee. The provincial squad has always been picked on a fair basis. Several times it has been an all-Vancouver affair. Still, the present system breeds headaches for selectors. Intercity rivalry is bound to crop up.

One solution—it was tried one year—would be to use the same system as employed in picking the women's team, playing three qualifying rounds on Vancouver courses and three on Victoria layouts.

That, of course, might bounce B.C.'s best golfer if he had a couple of bad rounds and would almost certainly eliminate a fairway whiz developed at Trail, Prince George or Horseshoe Lake.

Perhaps a system that could ease the load for the selection committee would be to select two golfers and let the other worthy candidates play-off for the other two berths.

Anyway, no system is foolproof and a reasonable amount of controversy is good for any sport. So keep the needle sharp, Mr. Watson. It might keep our bunker brigade more awake over here than you suspect.

Punters Keep Wickets Busy

VANCOUVER (CP)—A big Hoskin and Iaci, won the crowd of 7,000 spectators feature handicap purse. The pushed $183,000 through pari-mutuel wickets Wednesday for the biggest take in two years for $3,200, carried Jack Astorburn to a five-length victory over six furlongs in 1:12.4.

Roy Keeps 'Go' in Sox; Mick's Bat Lifts Yanks

By UP International

Roy Sievers has the poor pitchers going gaga, and if they don't stop him soon, those White Sox are liable to be going, going, gone.

The slugging Chicago first baseman hit three home runs Wednesday and drove in a total of nine runs as the surging White Sox ran their record to 13 victories in the last 14 games by sweeping a two-night doubleheader from the Cleveland Indians, 15-3 and 11-1.

The victories stretched the White Sox's latest winning streak to six in a row and dropped the slumping Indians into third place. Sievers drove in seven runs in the opener with his 15th and 16th homers, then accounted for two more runs in the nightcap with his 17th homer plus two singles.

Minnie Minoso also homered in the first game off loser Gary Bell, while Al Smith hit two homers and drove in four runs in the nightcap.

LARSEN GETS WIN Don Larsen, who relieved starter Frank Baumann in the opener, pitched scoreless ball over the last seven innings to win his third game of the season and the first of his career against the Indians. Juan Pizarro was the winner in the nightcap, losing his shutout on a ninth-inning homer by Bubba Phillips.

The New York Yankees moved to within a game of first place with a 5-3 triumph over the Kansas City Athletics; the Los Angeles Angels beat the Boston Red Sox, 5-1, and the Baltimore Orioles defeated the Minnesota Twins, 11-5. The Detroit-Washington game was postponed because of rain.

REDS TRIP CARDS

In the National League, the first place Cincinnati Reds downed the St. Louis Cardinals, 9-2; the Los Angeles Dodgers took two from the Chicago Cubs, 4-1 and 4-2; and the Milwaukee Braves beat the San Francisco Giants, 5-3. Rain washed out the Pittsburgh-Philadelphia game.

Two tape-measure home runs by Mickey Mantle paced the Yankees to their victory over the A's. Mantle's first homer, a 475-foot blow with two on in the first inning, was merely a warm-up for his 525-foot blast in the seventh with one on. Both came off Bob Shaw. Bud Daley won his first game since joining the Yankees and his fifth of the year, although Luis Arroyo helped out in the ninth.

BCE Net Draw

Bill Gale and Ernie Wilson will meet Lynn Norbury and Wally Lee tonight to settle the second berth in the doubles final of the B.C. Electric Tennis Club tournament.

Other finalists are Ivan Temple and Howie Tooby, defending champions.

Tonight's draws:

6:30—P. Wright vs. I. Clarkson.
7:00—J. Small vs. T. Barker; H. Lee vs. J. Davies.
7:30—W. Lee and L. Norbury vs. B. Gale and E. Wilson.

Relaxed Address

Regardless of how good your game is basically, tense-ness—that bugaboo of golfers—can ruin it.

It creeps up on everyone. Seasoned stars have to remind themselves from time to time to recognize and fight it.

Tension often begins its dirty work even before the swing is started. Addressing the ball, the player stands too erect and stretches his arms rigidly. The arm and shoulder muscles become taut. The player is licked before he starts.

The arms should be comfortably flexed, not extended, tensely when the ball is addressed. Lean over comfortably instead of standing like a West Pointer on dress parade. During the swing, the arms will extend, stretching out naturally and freely.

The player should not feel he has to reach for the ball. The clubhead should arrive at the ball with the arms fully extended and with the player in complete control. Addressing the ball slightly off the toe of the club often helps a golfer relax during the swing.

Addressing the ball thus should enable the player to hit it squarely, provided his stance hasn't been too erect, or he hasn't bent over too far.

SPINS NO-HITTER

George Didn't Take a Chance

Pitcher George Hemming was beaten in his last Connie Mack League baseball start when he gave up three hits.

So against Soedre on Wednesday he didn't take any chances. He yielded nary a bingle to make sure of victory as the Optimists won, 3-0.

It was his eighth win of the season against the one defeat. In that time he has given up only 16 hits and 11 runs in 64 innings, approximately 15 per game. In Wednesday's no-hitter he was slightly below average; he "only" whiffed 10 batters.

Meanwhile, second-place Birnies also lost, 3-1, to Young Liberals despite Dave Rivers' 13 strikeouts. John Yankoski won his sixth in seven decisions with a three-hitter.

Colt Fullback Calls It Quits

BALTIMORE (AP) — Fullback Alan Ameche, a star from the first time he carried the ball in 1953 for the Baltimore Colts in the National Football League, called it quits Wednesday.

A severed achilles tendon in his right leg suffered in a game last December 4 was a major factor in Ameche's decision to retire at 28.

"I just didn't think I had it any more," he said, adding that his interest in a growing chain of drive-in restaurants helped influence him to give up football.

CALGARY (CP) — Calgary Stampedeers have signed and Bill McKenna, originally an import, who will be classified as a Canadian in 1961 after taking out his citizenship papers.

PROBE ENDS

Battle Lines Still Firm On Gordon

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons railway committee completed its study of CNR accounts Wednesday with battle lines drawn just as firmly as ever between railway president Donald Gordon and MP Douglas Fisher (CCF-Port Arthur).

Mr. Fisher said he would move a motion later in the Commons session to recommend that the government replace Mr. Gordon as CNR president. He said he didn't mean to be personal, but he had no confidence in Mr. Gordon's management of the publicly-owned railway.

For his part, Mr. Gordon admitted that earlier this week he had described speeches by certain MPs as unfair, irresponsible and malicious when they criticized him and his management team. He said he stuck by it.

AROUND THE ISLAND

Hospital Bylaw Thrown Out 'In Effect,' Says Reeve

NORTH COWICHAN—Members of the North Cowichan council "sat mum" Wednesday afternoon when Reeve Donald Morton asked for a motion to give final reading to a bylaw approving the raising of $512,000 toward a $3,655,568 district hospital.

There was no action and the bylaw was tabled.

"We have, in effect, thrown out this bylaw," the reeve said.

Although voters gave the hospital overwhelming approval June 10, three councillors from the protesting Chemainus area have withheld their support.

"We have to get together to honor the obligation; I feel we still have to raise our share of $512,000," Reeve Morton said. "My hope is that the hospital planning board will say 'We don't care how you raise it'."

Claude Green, King's Daughters' Hospital board chairman and planning committee member, said after the council meeting that an attempt will be made next week to work out a compromise solution for the hospital.

NANAIMO—Liquor was held partly to blame by a coroner's jury for the June 4 drowning of Robin David Kindlan, 20, in Nanaimo Harbor.

Verdict was of accidental death, but it was recommended by the jury at an inquest that poor swimmers and non-swimmers wear life jackets at all times when in a boat.

The youth had attended a beach party on Newcastle Island, where there had been drinking. On the way home he slid from the motorboat in which he was riding without a sound. The body was recovered Saturday, not far from the scene of the tragedy.

COURTENAY—B.C. should establish itself in the power export field before nuclear power production gains a competitive foothold, W. C. Mainwaring told the Rotary Club here this week.

Mr. Mainwaring, Peace River Power Corporation president, said the power potential on Vancouver Island is poor, but that the Peace River scheme could give the Island an ample supply of cheap power for the next 100 years.

NANAIMO—Commercial Street here was closed to traffic today for the second annual shopping festival which will continue Friday and Saturday.

The street, turned into a shoppers' mall, has a sidewalk restaurant and play area for children. Off-street parking has been arranged.

GANGES—Trustee A. D. Dane resigned from Gulf Is.

lands District 64 school board following the board's refusal to reconsider amalgamation of north and south districts on Salt Spring Island, as requested by southern area voters.

Trustees voted recently to amalgamate the two areas, which would mean that the Salt Spring trustees would be elected at large. Mr. Dane's request for reconsideration followed a protest meeting at Fulford Harbor, in the southern area.

COURTENAY—Two Thetis Island fishermen, skipper Jack Rupert and another man, were rescued from their burning 40-foot fishboat Shane Tuesday by the RCAF crash boat Mardard from Comox.

A helicopter in the area saw the burning boat near Hornby Island and gave the alarm. Other fishboats in the area also went to the scene. The vessel burned to the water line and was beached.

SOLEMN MOMENT in the dedication of a church is shown above, as Archbishop Harold E. Sexton raises his crozier during the dedication of St. Richard's Anglican Church on

ST. RICHARD'S DEDICATED

Ancient Ritual Enacted

Two years of slow and gradual work bore final fruit for the vicar and congregation of St. Richard's Anglican Church when the church buildings were formally dedicated by the Archbishop of British Columbia last week.

A mission of St. Luke's Church, the newly-dedicated St. Richard's consists of two former army huts on Gordon Head Road that have been converted into a house of worship and a parish hall.

Pews were packed for the ceremony, with a congregation of well over 100 squeezing into the building. Guests of honor were Lieutenant Governor George Pearkes, and Mr. Pearkes.

LONDON (Reuters)—British European Airways plan to operate a "one-hour commuter" helicopter between London and Paris, it was announced here Wednesday.

Sexton knocked three times at the closed door of the church to begin the ritual of dedication.

The doors having been opened to him, the archbishop proceeded to the altar to formally dedicate the church, naming it in honor of St. Richard, the thirteenth-century Bishop of Chichester.

Following the brief rite, the Lieutenant Governor met informally with the congregation and with the vicar, the Reverend Harry Emery, in the church hall.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — You're all so brilliant — you wonderful readers of mine — you've come up with some new restaurant jokes.

Maybe not really new — but at least only slightly used. Like the one about the customer who complained: "Just look at this chicken you served me. One leg is longer than the other."

And the waitress retorted, "Were you planning to eat the chicken or dance with it?"

A drunk, ordering pickled herring, harangued the waitress that the fish must be very large — about 18 inches long. Or, if she couldn't get him one that large, to bring him two.

"Now," he said, "repeat my order to me."

"One whale or two sharks," she said.

FREE DINNERS

Both jokes come from Columbus, O., and so Chester S. Otto, city licence clerk, and Mrs. Garold Millam are each entitled to four free dinners at Arthur Bates' Dallas restaurant. Bates inspired this joke hunt with the dinners as the prizes.

"I hear that Mr. Bates hired all midge waiters so that his sandwiches would look bigger," wrote Paul L. Doty of St. Paul.

Mr. Doty said never mind giving him four dinners for that. We weren't going to anyway, as we suspect it's from vaudeville.

Then there was a Scotsman, says G. H. Stubblefield of Houston, "who found a feather in his soft-boiled egg — but ate it quickly so the restaurant owner wouldn't charge him for chicken."

That's not new, of course, but you'll admit you hadn't heard it lately.

Comedian Myron Cohen handed along one about a customer demanding, "What's that fly doing in my ice cream?" and a waiter shrugging, "He probably likes winter sports."

Although the aforesaid are all winners, it may be that Arthur Bates was right the first time — maybe there aren't any new restaurant jokes.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

Comic Jack Carter and his wife, singer Paula Stewart, still maintain separate Manhattan apartments; they call 'em Carter East and Carter West.

Comedienne Carol Burnett wondered where to keep her TV Guide award, a heavy 14-inch silver bowl; newscaster David Brinkley suggested, "Why don't you start a charm bracelet?"

Basketballer Wilt (the Stilt) Chamberlain became part-owner of a Harlem cafe... Zsa Zsa Gabor stopped her car on Third Av. and 53rd St., sent the chauffeur out to get two hot dogs from a street vendor... Dinah Shore tells friends she'd like to restrict herself to TV guest appearances next season.

EARL'S PEARLS: Give a woman an inch — and she'll throw out all of last year's bathing suits.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: We heard of a popular Hollywood diet — you just stop eating wedding cake.

Harry Truman saw "Do Re Mi" recently and congratulated Phil Silvers on becoming the father of twins. Silvers said, "Mr. President, that was the biggest surprise since you defeated Dewey." That's earl, brother.

More than $1,000 in time and material will have been contributed by members of Victoria Y's Men's Club for maintenance and alterations by the time Camp Thunderbird opens its gates July 3.

An annual project of the club, the work ensures good accommodation for the 400 boys and girls who attend the camp each year.

The YM-YWCA Young Adult Club will meet at the YMCA Sunday at 1:15 p.m. for a picnic trip to Sandy Beach. Super and swim suits are necessities.

Boys' and girls' swim classes run by Archie McKinnon will wind up at the end of this month. Tests are being conducted and it is expected about 480 children will be awarded swim achievement cards, stars and diplomas.

The morning Ladies Keep Fit Class will also end soon after the best season in its history. Some changes will be made in schedules for next year to accommodate all the names on the waiting lists.

LOVE'S LABOR LOST A HIT

Three 'Winners' At Stratford

STRATFORD, Ont. (CP)—The Stratford Shakespearean Festival apparently is in for another big season.

The last of the Festival's three Shakespearean plays of 1961 went before watchful eyes Wednesday night and, as did the first two, emerged relatively unscathed.

If anything, the main fault found in the performance of Love's Labor's Lost was not that of the director or cast, but of the author and circumstance—of the author because he was comparatively young when he wrote it and of circumstance because it contains many now-unintelligible topical allusions and aspects not so palatable with a 20th-century audience as with one around 1600.

NO FAULT FOUND

There was hardly a critic who could find fault with the way director Michael Langham and his cast handled the difficult comedy.

Among the actors, John Colicos probably took the prize as Berowne. His part called for many a witty exchange, especially with Zoe Caldwell, an Australian making her first appearance in Canada's Shakespearean centre. She did not fail him.

Paul Scofield, well known on Britain's legitimate stage, made his second appearance here Wednesday night as Don Armado.

B.C. LAD, FRIENDS ALL EATING

Hunger Strike Said Sham

VANCOUVER (CP)—The warden of the Mississippi State penitentiary at Cleveland said Wednesday a hunger strike by Freedom Riders—including a Victoria student—is a sham.

Fred Jones said in a telephone interview the Freedom Riders are all right and are not losing any weight despite the supposed hunger strike.

One of the prisoners is Michael Audain, a University of B.C. student found guilty of disturbing the peace for eating in the Negro section of a restaurant at Jackson, Miss. He was fined $200 and sentenced to two months.

Jones said: "They are all eating. There are two in a cell. They eat one tray and leave the other."

He suggested this is to make the jailers believe one man in each cell is starving himself.

Jones said the Freedom Riders are not required to work — "they'd just cause trouble with the other prisoners."

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other interesting prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive valuable prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Reference Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Shirley McCracken, age 10, of Coburg, Ont., for her question:

What is the lightest substance in the world?

The face of the earth is covered mostly with solid rocks, liquid water and gaseous air. A bushel of rocks is heavier than a bushel of water and a bushel of water is heavier than a bushel of air. We expect solids to weigh more than liquids and liquids to weigh more than gases. This is usually true, but not always. A solid log of wood floats because it is lighter than liquid water. A solid bar of copper floats on liquid mercury because it is lighter than mercury.

We cannot, of course, judge the weight of a solid object from its size. A bar of steel weighs three times more than a bar of aluminum of the same size. We cannot judge the weight of liquids from bulk. A cupful of mercury weighs 13½ times more than a cupful of water. Nor can we judge the weight of a gas from its bulk. A quart of oxygen, the gas we breathe in, weighs a little more than carbon dioxide, the gas we breathe out, and carbon di-

Different Role in Universe

Out in the starry universe, hydrogen plays a very different role. About three quarters of the sun is made from blazing hydrogen gas. It is the fuel which the sun uses in its seething atomic furnace. It is estimated that the sun uses four billion tons of its hydrogen fuel every second, day and night. And there is enough of it left to keep the sun shining for many billions of years to come.

In our galaxy there are some 100 billion stars and most of them are about 75 per cent hydrogen. Between the stars there are vast clouds and trailing streamers so big that our whole Solar System would be lost inside them like a grain of dust. Most of this material is also hydrogen gas, perhaps getting ready to form new stars and solar systems.

All this hydrogen gas is exactly like the hydrogen here on earth. It is quick to catch fire and a fast burner. When it is chilled to minus 253 degrees centigrade it becomes a pale bluish liquid. When chilled just six degrees more, it freezes into a solid.

Andy sends a Hammond's International World Globe to Patricia Halberg, age 12, of Springfield, Ill., for her question:

What Is an Astronaut?

Telephone and television, radio and radar are words that were created to name new inventions. Anything brand new has to have a brand new name of its own. Even a brand new job has to have a name of its own. In the past few years, mankind started the great adventure of the conquest of space and the thrilling project calls for a variety of new jobs. So far, we might say, man has only dipped his big toe into the vast ocean of space. But we already have a name for the men who will do the job of taking space ships out to explore other worlds.

They are the astronauts. The astro part of the word comes from an older word for star. The naut part of the word comes from an older word for sailor. The astronauts, then, are the star sailors.

TEEN-AGE CANADA

Boy In a Hurry Says Very Little

By JACK HUTTEN

Bruce Kidd—Canada's best track hope—is a 17-year-old teen-ager in a quiet hurry. But you would never guess it from him.

This weekend Bruce is expected to set a new Canadian three-mile record at the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union races in Montreal (as if 11 previous records aren't enough).

He has also just finished writing 10 tough Grade 13 exams at Malvern Collegiate as preparation for a four-year honours course at the University of Toronto.

Merely writing eight Grade 13 exams is tough enough for most of us. But Bruce somehow found time to set two racing records during exam time—and looked embarrassed if friends found it unusual.

Delivered Papers

The young athlete (who shuns personal publicity), was president of his students' council this year. But he also got up faithfully each day at 5:30 a.m. to deliver newspapers.

Bruce Kidd is living proof that good athletes are not necessarily poor students, or vice versa. I believe he is also our outstanding teen-ager in Canada today, but you only find that out by watching him.

Last weekend I watched this slim, 135-pound runner, dressed in white sweatshirt and shorts, stand relaxed as he and four others prepared to run an 880-yard race. At the starting gun all five set off in a group.

Push-Button Sprint

It was a dull race until the five were halfway around the course. Then, as if someone had pushed a button and said "Go", Bruce suddenly pulled away from the others and finished first in a relaxed, loping style but still setting a new record.

I glanced down at the track where Bruce didn't seem to even hear the announcement. He was slowly jogging around the track, grinning shyly at friends as he passed them.

How does Bruce combine studies with running? "I spend an average of about two and one-half hours a night studying," he told me later. "And I suppose I train 10 or 12 hours per week."

His coach, Fred Foot, figures Bruce runs three or four miles while delivering papers. "Then he usually gets in some running later in the evening. Running twice a day is good for anyone."

Aims at World Mark

Winning Canadian races hasn't turned Bruce's head, his coach emphasizes. "He knows that what he has done so far are backyard runs," said Mr. Foot. "What Bruce is aiming for is at least one world record."

Bruce has already shattered several U.S. marks, but has his sights set upon the world's record for the three-mile run. (The record: 13:10. Bruce's fastest so far: 13:26.)

Bruce's principal, J. Leslie Kerr, has no doubt about the youth's future success. "He has a fight we all wish we had—the ability to concentrate," said Mr. Kerr.

"What would take you or I four hours will probably take Bruce only two," he added. "Bruce puts his time to better advantage than possibly anyone I've ever known. He even studies on the planes going to meets."

Bruce Kidd ... shining example

The final comment came from a schoolmate. "The most painful day for Bruce is the Monday after he wins a race," he recalled. "He's very polite about congratulations—but he's so terribly worried that someone might think he's getting stuck-up!"

Sometimes ago (remember?) we mentioned that a young friend wanted to know what the longest word in the English language was.

Well, Keith Bain, an 18-year-old bank clerk from Strathroy, Ont., not only answered the question—but he snowed under practically everyone else who made a stab at it.

"The longest word in the Oxford Dictionary," wrote Keith, "is floccipaucinillipilification (alternately spelt in hyphenated form with 'n' in the seventh place. It means the action of estimating as worthless."

The longest regularly formed word in the English language, said Keith, is antidisestablishmentarianism, first coined in 1869 and used by William Ewart Gladstone.

How to Win Best

But it pales beside the longest place-name in the world, he added. It is (take a deep breath): "Taumatawhakatangihangakoauauotamateaturipukakapikimaungahoronukupokaiwhenuakitanatahu."

This place, Keith informed us, takes its name from the native Maori language and exists today in the Southern Hawkes' Bay district of the North Island of New Zealand.

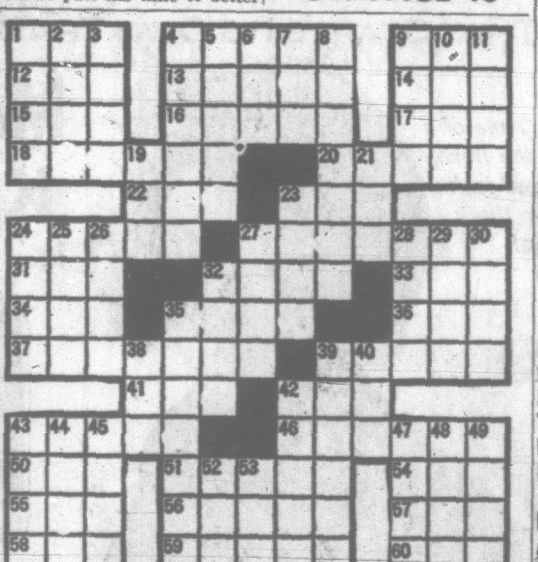

Imagine sticking that address on a standard envelope! Learn it today and you'll be winning bets for the rest of your life.

Talks Break Down In Paper Dispute

VANCOUVER (CP)—Contract talks between the Papermakers Union and two major coast firms have broken down. Spokesmen for Macmillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd., and Crown Zellerbach Canada Ltd., said the government will be asked to appoint a conciliation officer.

The talks involve wages for 900 men. Current contract expires June 30.

Voters Approve Sale of Airport

(Compiled From CP)

VANCOUVER—Sale of Vancouver International Airport by the city to the federal government was approved by an overwhelming majority of Vancouver ratepayers Wednesday.

They voted 74.7 per cent in favor of selling the airport for $2,750,000, reversing the decision they had given on two previous occasions.

At the same time, a plebiscite proposing a borrowing of $12,000,000 to construct a jet-age terminal at the airport went down to resounding defeat with only 22.4 per cent in favor.

A bylaw to purchase part of the old Shaughnessy golf course from the Canadian Pacific Railway for $2,200,000 was also defeated, with 54.4 per cent of voters in favor.

A majority of 60 per cent was necessary for each of the three measures to gain approval.

A vigorous campaign by Mayor Tom Alsbury resulted in a vote of 30,660 to 10,331 in favor of the airport sale.

The federal government earlier promised it would begin work immediately on construction of a modern terminal if voters approved the sale. Experts estimate $13,000,000 or more must be spent as soon as possible to provide facilities for jet traffic.

TUNNEL REPAIRS

KITIMAT—Engineers of the Aluminum Company of Canada have estimated it will take almost eight weeks to repair the Kemano Tunnel, damaged by a rock fall.

A statement released Wednesday by the company said the hydro tunnel had been drained and preliminary surveys showed a partial blockage by fallen rock.

The condition of the tunnel was almost as anticipated from tests conducted before a shutdown of the smelter here.

The statement said the temporary shutdown would not affect deliveries to aluminum customers.

DOWN SHE WENT

NEW WESTMINSTER—The tugboat Fury, manned by a skipper and a deckhand, was towing a log boom along the Fraser River Wednesday night.

Something went wrong with the boom. The deckhand boarded the boom to fix it.

He called to the skipper for assistance. The skipper left the tug and boarded the boom.

Then the towline broke. With the skipper and deckhand still on the boom, the unmanned Fury ran off, smashed into the deep-sea freighter King Edward and sank.

The freighter wasn't damaged.

FREED OF MURDER

VANCOUVER—Norman White, 25, was found not guilty Wednesday in the death of a 60-year-old man who he accused of supplying "goof balls" to a woman.

ALL IS SERENE NOW, but Kinsmen Gorge Park "swimming hole" is expected to be bustling with activity soon when swimming classes start for children. The clean, sandy beach is considered ideal for instruction. The classes will be open to all youngsters. Registrations will be accepted there this Saturday at 10 a.m. (Times Photo by Irving Strickland.)

ENROL SATURDAY FOR SWIM CLASSES

Big Kinette Splash Starts July 3

Third season of youngsters' swim classes organized by Victoria Kinette Club at Kinsmen Gorge Park will start this year July 3 and run until August 11.

The course is open to children between eight and 12 and will be split up into classes. Classes will start each day at 10 a.m.

Up to 250 youngsters are expected to take part in the course which is being organized by Mrs. Elsie Dalrymple, president-elect of Victoria Kinettes, the women's organization of the Kinsmen Clubs.

Instruction will be given by four qualified Red Cross instructors and four helpers.

Registration day is Saturday at 10 a.m. at the Kinsmen Gorge Park. Fee is $2.

Then for adults, the YMCA shortly will be offering a special course to boat owners and part-time fishermen to improve their swimming.

"Many men are in great danger every time they step into a boat because of their inefficiency as swimmers," a "Y" spokesman said.

The level of swimming ability in Victoria—as in the rest of Canada—is deplorable.

"Only one person in 10 can pass a beginner's swimming test, yet more and more people are taking to the water each year," the spokesman said.

Enrolments are being accepted at the YMCA now for classes, which will be held two nights a week.

VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, JUNE 22, 1961—PAGE 17

HERE AND THERE . . .

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

The owner of a canary-colored sports shirt—just up from Washington—beamed happily on the Johnson Street liquor store Wednesday evening when the clerk handed him a 30-cent rebate on his $20 bill.

"What's this—Tourist Thanksgiving Week?" he chuckled.

When told of the dramatic devaluation of the Canadian dollar by the Ottawa government, he replied: "My, what a shot in the arm for Uncle Sam!"

In the non-alcoholic stores there were similar signs of jubilation as U.S. visitors received unexpected change from their hard-earned dollars.

"They look as if you had given them a Christmas present," said a spike-heeled vendor of souvenir totem poles and other Victoriana. "I'm sure Mr. Diefenbaker has done the right thing."

Sir Charles de la poer Gough (correct) from Vancouver lit a small firecracker here when he said southern Ireland was "almost dead."

"I can't believe any true-born Irishman would say such a beastly thing," wrote Mrs. Mary Sullivan from Esquimalt. "Sir James sounds to me like an anglicized Irishman . . ."

"If, as he says, he is a native of Tipperary he must have been absolutely blind to the charm and beauty of the Irish countryside, and the wit and charm of its inhabitants. He sounds a bit soured to me."

Over to you, Sir Charles.

"Your system of electoral representation is a lot simpler than ours," commented Senator Al Henry of White Salmon, Washington, after being shown over our Legislative Buildings by Esquimalt MLA Herbert Bruch.

Senator Henry sits in the Washington Senate while his wife represents White Salmon in the House of Representatives.

Do they have any home life? Oh yes—Senator Henry is the mayor of White Salmon and runs a business there as well.

The Canadian Order of Foresters, now in convention at the Empress Hotel, has a ready-made prayer for successful men who get swelled heads:

"Let me remember those who held the ladder for me while I climbed up it."

PLAN TO CUT SOOT BY HALF URGED FOR ADOPTION BY CITY

A special civic committee today recommended adoption in Victoria of an air pollution control bylaw credited with cutting soot and ash by 50 per cent in Vancouver and visible smoke by 80 per cent.

"I'm sure this will go a long way towards meeting our problem," said Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow as the smoke abatement advisory committee wound up months of study.

The proposed bylaw would increase restrictions on the amount of solids allowed to escape up industrial chimney stacks and ban open air burning of cars, wire salvage and refuse from building demolitions.

'RESPECT MOTHER OCEAN'

Certificates Awarded To Power Squadron

Respect for the "whims of mother ocean" was urged Wednesday night by Rear-Admiral Finch-Noyes, RCN, flag officer Pacific coast, in an address to Victoria Power Squadron at Royal Victoria Yacht Club.

Speaking at a ceremony honoring newly qualified members of the squadron, an affiliate of Canadian Power Squadrons, he stressed a need for water safety.

"There must be control, or even more important, self-control," he said.

Assistant Commissioner D. O. Forrest, RCMP, said the post-war boom in small boats gave rise to problems which in turn made regulation and education necessary.

"A great deal of progress has been made by federal and provincial agencies in teaching water safety," he said.

Lieut. Col. Keith Dixon, transport department agency, praised the certificate winners as the type which would not cause worry to him and his department.

"We can do so much," he said, "but we have never found out how to protect a fool from his own folly."

Squadron pledge was given by Courtenay Haddock, commander. He was assisted by Don McMillan, lieutenant-commander; Dr. E. T. W. Nash, lieutenant-commander; and Victor W. Griffin, past district commander.

Admitted as members following completion of the initial CPSC course were: J. B. Bird, Mrs. C. V. Brown, Denis C. Corry, A. E. Dalling, J. C. R. Feilden, Peter M. Foulkes, M. A. M. Fraser, G. A. Giles, Eric H. Gilmer, C. H. Harrell, W. Kay, J. P. McEldrie, T. G. Denny, J. R. George, Peter G. Pearson, Dr. D. G. Revelt, H. S. Richardson, Jack Simpson, J. G. Stewart, G. O. Swartz, K. Thompson, Ben Webb, F. W. Webb, and P. J. Webster.

Members who made grades of 80 per cent or better in seamanship were Dr. W. E. Beck, Dr. David M. Boyd, J. B. Bird, J. R. George, Peter G. Pearson, Dr. D. G. Revelt, H. S. Richardson, Jack Simpson, J. G. Stewart, G. O. Swartz, K. Thompson, Ben Webb, F. W. Webb, and P. J. Webster.

Advanced piloting endorsements went to Mr. Guy M. Greenwood, Mr. Knowland, and Dr. Nash.

B.C. Road Projects Safeguard Advised

By FRANK RUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

The Canadian Construction Association today revived one of the key issues which sparked a bitter Opposition attack on Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi in the B.C. legislature four months ago.

In a brief to the cabinet, the CCA called for a "means test" which would ensure adequate financial resources and experience of contractors bidding on B.C. road projects.

Such a prequalification system is now in operation in Ontario and many American states, says the brief.

The idea was proposed in the legislature by Liberal leader Ray Perrault in the midst of the hot debate about Mr. Gagliardi's role in payment of public funds to a contractor in violation of a court order.

CONTRACTOR JAILED

Mr. Gagliardi was fined $1,000 for contempt of court. The contractor, Clyde Thornton, also was found guilty, and jailed.

The money was paid to him by the highways department in defiance of an order which said direct payment should first be made to a creditor of the contractor.

The Opposition charged that Thornton won the contract originally despite the fact that he had insufficient money, and that he went broke on the job.

PRECAUTION URGED

The CCA brief, presented by local officials and national vice-president Hugh R. Montgomery, of Montreal, was given to Agriculture Minister Frank Richter, only cabinet member in Victoria today.

"The association recommends adoption of prequalification procedures as a further assurance that road work will be carried out completely," said the brief.

It suggested the Heavy Construction Association of B.C., a CCA affiliate, should hold talks with the highways department with a view to setting up the scheme.

LABOR LAW HAILED

Another section of the CCA submission gave the government a pat on the back for new labor laws passed at the last session of the legislature.

The laws forbid unions to use any dues for political purposes.

"The association wishes to commend the B.C. government most highly on its fortitude in facing up to the challenges to the welfare of its economy which had gradually resulted from often completely unrealistic and sometimes irresponsible actions on the part of trade unions," says the CCA.

NO LOCAL FAVORS

"The greater degree of responsibility and maturity shown by a number of building trades unions in the course of collective bargaining this spring must also be commended."

"No doubt the various measures taken by the government have contributed much to this welcome change," it adds.

Other recommendations in the CCA brief:

No local preference policy on public tendering;

Prescribed tendering practices for public bodies receiving provincial grants for their projects;

Renegotiation of all provincial unit price contracts if there is a variation of 15 per cent either up or down in the job.

Oak Bay Landmarks Bulldozed

Hope of recovering part of $12,000 spent by Oak Bay on Haynes Park property went up in smoke when firemen burned two condemned houses Wednesday.

Building, electrical and fire inspectors would not pass the houses for occupancy without modifications.

"We would have spent $3,000-$4,000 to rehabilitate the premises and they just weren't worth it," Reeve George Murdoch explained today.

"We would have got only about $50 a month for a year through rental," he said.

It is proposed to improve the land for public park use next year, by landscaping and putting in a rest room.

The two derelict structures—one of them overhanging the sea—were a landmark on Beach Drive, near what is now Beresford, for more than half a century.

Firemen set fire to the one nearest the water, then bulldozed the other into it, pushing both onto the beach to burn out.

Watchman Stops Burglary Attempt

An alert night watchman foiled a burglary attempt early today at McLennan, McFeely and Prior warehouse, 2025 Government.

Responding to a call from George Wetherell, 1283 Derby, at 1:03 a.m., city police raced to the scene.

In police court today John Devine, 305 Huntington Place, and Vernon Reid, 1213 Johnson, were both charged with breaking and entering with the intention of committing theft.

Both men entered pleas of not guilty and bail was set at $1,500 for Reid and $1,000 for Devine.

JOHN L. SCADDING

WEATHERMAN WATCHING LITTLE STORM

There will be increasing high cloud over Victoria in the next 24 hours, but skies will be "mainly sunny" Friday, according to weatherman William Mackie.

Cause of the cloud is a small but active storm looming beyond the horizon, which already has given a few sprinkles of rain on the northern B.C. coast.

Temperatures tonight and Friday will range between 50 and 75 degrees, and winds will be light to northerly at 15 miles per hour.

UBC Prizes Won By 34 Islanders

John Scadding, formerly a student at Victoria College, has won three scholarships from the University of British Columbia totalling nearly $700.

Now proceeding into his third year in the faculty of commerce at UBC, Mr. Scadding, whose home address in Victoria is 1204 Clover Avenue, is one of 34 students from Vancouver Island whose names are included in a list of scholarship winners released today by the university.

He won the Westminster Paper Company scholarship, valued at $400, for "personal qualities and leadership," the $150 Klein Memorial scholarship for proficiency in second year, and the Woodward $125 scholarship for proficiency in commerce.

Also honored was Terrence Leung, leader of the first-year class at Victoria College, whose $500 Standard Oil Company scholarship was renewed for another year.

William Delahaye Gill, of South Pender Island, was awarded a $250 B.C. Electric scholarship for graduate study at the university.

In all, the 34 Island students won 42 scholarships, dividing up among them books, equipment and $11,740 in cash.

A complete list of scholarship winners from Vancouver Island follows:

'End Leprosy' Drive As Gift to World

The Canadian Order of Foresters has proposed to the federal government that Canada celebrate its centenary in 1967 by eradicating leprosy from the world.

"The proposal has met with spontaneous national approval from our nearly 50,000 members," said O. E. Cook, public relations director of the COF, now holding its 76th High Court convention in the Empress Hotel.

"Today there is a known cure for leprosy and the 15,000,000 or more victims of this disease now suffering needlessly are in urgent need of assistance."

"Canada can and should become a nation of Samaritans. Our business in life is not to get ahead of others, but to get ahead of ourselves."

At a private high court session here today, the COF voted a donation of $2,000 to the New Brunswick flood relief fund.

The gift—one of a large number of welfare grants made by the Order—was announced by High Chief Ranger S. C. Berridge.

3-Car Accident

Three cars were involved in an accident at Rock Bay and Hillsdale at 8:10 this morning.

After being in collision with a car driven by Steven Downs of 902 Craigflower, a car driven by Donald R. Cameron rolled over and collided with the car of Ernest Johnson, 542 Ker Avenue.

Cameron was shaken, but released after examination at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Is there any maximum amount for which a cheque may be written? H. L. S.

A. A cheque may not be written for a fraction of a cent, so that the minimum amount for which a cheque may be written in Canada is one cent. There is no theoretical maximum, but the highest amount for which a cheque is known to have been written is $229,500,000, the amount paid to the Ford Foundation by the Ford Motor Company for the sale of common stock in 1956. Several cheques are known to have been written for one cent, usually in adjustment of an account.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Readers Express Selves On the Subject of Luck

Not long ago I wrote a column about luck and asked my readers to write and tell me their thoughts on the subject and whether they think we make our own luck. I have enjoyed the letters I have received concerning this, and especially like the following excerpts.

"I believe that what we all experience as 'lucky breaks' or 'bad breaks' are simply the natural results of efforts we have made or missed, attitudes we have acquired or lack, which put us in a 'plus' or 'minus' mood."

Luck can be knocking at our doors, good fortune waving madly at us and happiness blowing kisses at us, but unless we are aware and alive and perceptive enough we will not see them or recognize them for what they are. When we are in a "plus" mood, we are susceptible to success and happiness. We almost make lucky and happy things happen to us. When we are in a "minus" mood, we almost will dull and unhappy things with our negative outlook.

Another quote: "The more one helps oneself to be healthy and wise the easier it is to add to the wealth, whether material or spiritual or both. To me, the person who accepts himself on these terms—being on his own but not alone—is open to all experience."

More thoughts from another reader: "My feeling is that faith in oneself is a power which makes reliance on luck unnecessary."

"I think the individual attitude toward life is the only source of good or bad luck." If you would like to have my leaflet, "Individual Happiness," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 65. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

DEAR ABBY

Loaded Question!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: After 12 years of marriage, I have come to the conclusion that I don't love my husband. I have grown accustomed to him as you would to a pet. I didn't realize this until I met Mr. R. He is the man I wish I were married to. I would not be foolish enough to break up my home because I love my children, and they need me. Mr. R. also has a family, and he feels the same way about his family. Our situations are similar in that he doesn't exactly hate his wife. He just doesn't love her.

Mr. R. and I haven't done anything to be ashamed of. We've met a few times and told each other our troubles. He says there is no harm in being "silent sweethearts" as long as we are discreet. I am tempted. Should I?

ON THE BRINK
DEAR ON: You have dressed up a shabby old theme in fancy language. A "silent sweetheart" is a guy on the side. And to be "discreet," under such circumstances, means to cheat behind locked doors. Direct some of that romantic energy toward your "pet." The adventure you are considering is loaded with dynamite.

DEAR ABBY: What do you do about a man who makes a date with you several days in advance, and doesn't show up or phone to tell you he won't be there? This has happened to me twice with the same man. The first time he told me he fell asleep, and the second time he said he "forgot" we had a date.

He is a nice person, and has given me (and others) reason to believe he is very much interested in me. I cannot understand this treatment. I am 32 and he is 35. Neither of us has ever been married, and all our friends think we would make a wonderful couple.

CAN'T FIGURE IT OUT
DEAR CAN'T: Don't include this man in your plans for the future. A woman your age needs someone who sleeps less and remembers more.

DEAR ABBY: A certain relative just returned from her place. It is no fun to go there any more. She follows you around like a detective to see that you don't put a wet glass down anywhere. And the minute I light a cigarette, she keeps her eyes glued on me to see that an ash doesn't fall on the rug. When she has a few people in, she polices everyone every second. She makes me nervous. And she makes everyone else nervous, too. Should I tell her, as one slater-in-law to another, that she was a better hostess when she was more relaxed and didn't have all that fancy furniture? Or would she think I was jealous? NERVOUS.

DEAR NERVOUS: If your furnishings are not as fancy as hers, she will probably think you are jealous. Skip it, and be careful where the ashes fall or somebody will be burned up.

What's bothering you? For a personal reply, write to Abby, 205 Park Road, Burlingame, Calif. Include a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Remember the Scrap-Bag? It's Made a Comeback

By PENNY SAVER

What fun to find in a Victoria shop "scrap bags" just like those that grandmother used to play with as a girl. Actually, I don't remember quite that far back, but my grandmother does assure me that she and the "scrap bag" were inseparable many years ago.

A cellophane bag reveals exciting scraps and bits of pictures, altogether a quaintly delightful jumble, for the child to paste into a book making up scenes and pictures. Made in England, this little game gives full play to your child's imagination. Scraps have a shiny finish. Price is 29c a bag.

A novelty item for the child who is having an important birthday soon is a "Smile Doll." Squeeze her tummy, and this sunny plastic miss wrinkles her nose, shuts her eyes, smiles a happy two-toothed grin and almost giggles. Her hair can be washed and set. This veritable imp is selling at $9.98.

For the organized little tot (or the little tot you would like to organize), what could be nicer than a gaily-striped or polka-dotted band box about six inches across? Sturdy little cases, they are priced at $1.29.

There are also larger oval boxes, perfect for the youngster who is going a-travelling. These come complete with vanity mirror in lid. They are $2.49 each.

To get back to our own little vanities now, Penny has found a shop selling fold-up slippers that are sturdy enough for the beach or the boat. They come in suede, leather or straw. Suede shoes, styled on Italian lines with tapering toe, have ridged soles of white rubber, and are available in tan, red, black, rich brown or green. They are $3.98 a pair.

Attractive leather flaties, at $2.98 a pair, come in red, pale blue or black. In white or black, straw slippers have leather soles and heels, at same price of $2.98. All these styles fold up neatly into a plastic case, handy for taking to work with you as an "extra pair" for tired feet. Sizes 6 to 9 are available.

If you would like to know where Penny shopped today, give her a ring at EV 2-3131.

Making Bathing Suits?
Fit Them Tight

"Dear Eunice:

"I have found some remnants of an elasticized type of knit that is used in commercial swimming suits. Since I have three girls and bathing suits are such an expense, I am hoping to make them. Any hints you can give me would be more than helpful."

Mrs. W. R. G.

Dear Mrs. W. R. G.:

This type of fabric will have to be fitted tighter than an ordinary cotton fabric. Sometimes it is better to use a pattern one size smaller than usual since this type of a bathing suit will get larger when wet.

I would suggest you use a heavy duty thread and a heavy duty zipper. Because of the elasticity of this knit-type fabric, pull your seams a little as you machine stitch to give the same elasticity to your seams and avoid threads breaking under any strain.

Tot Steals Show at Garden Party

For five-year-old Kay Melbye, Wednesday was a "red-letter" day. She wore "lip-per-stick" for the first time and stole the limelight as the youngest model in the summer fashion show at Gorge Road Hospital Auxiliary's garden party on the hospital's lawn.

Commentator for the fast-moving show which featured warm-weather clothes for everyone from the tiny tot, to the mother-to-be and the more mature figure, was Times fashion editor, Nona Damaske. Fashions were by the T. Eaton Company and co-ordinator was Cecily Collins.

Other models were Kay's mother, Mrs. Inger Melbye, Mrs. Margaret Rain and her daughter, Mrs. Roberta Mawer; Mrs. Eileen Ash, Mrs. Doris Hilliard, Mrs. Bess Jackson, Mrs. Doris McGregor, Mrs. Agnes Reimer, Bellingham and, modelling teen-age styles, Carol Brown.

SUMMER-STYLE

It was early Wednesday afternoon and time to begin the regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of James Bay United Church. Eight smart women brushed remaining crumbs of their box lunches off their laps, folded paper bags neatly in their shopping bags and sat up straight on benches at picnic tables in Beacon Hill Park. Closing their ears to the sound of children playing shuffle board near by and the squeals of laughter, as youngsters soared skywards on the swings, they "came to order" under direction of Mrs. T. G. Griffith, group president and wife of the minister. Briefly and concisely they planned the fall speaker program and, at the same time, soaked up the warming June sunshine. It was midsummer day in Victoria.

EICHMANN:

Island Homeland Sought for Jews

JERUSALEM (AP)—Adolf Eichmann testified today he tried to save Europe's Jews by creating a homeland for them on the island of Madagascar.

The former Gestapo lieutenant-colonel said he conceived the "Madagascar plan" that was juggled around in high Nazi circles in 1940 but never got past the paper stage.

Eichmann identified principal portions of the plan as his own, particularly a study of climate and living conditions on the French island off the east African coast.

"I studied all prior conditions which were sine qua non (indispensable) for anyone settling there," Eichmann said. "I went to Hamburg and talked to people of the Tropical Hygiene Institute. Then I received orders from my superiors to go on working out plans which would not be utopian."

Heavy construction companies are using ammonium nitrate-based explosives and TNT slurry which can be mixed on the job, said CIL manager M. J. Watson, in making the announcement.

Retirement schemes, resettlement allowances, annuities, and payment of moving costs have been arranged by the company for employees who will be discharged. The village here will be closed in June, 1962, since most of the employees live off the island.

KENNEDY AILING

Cigar in hand and using crutches, President Kennedy went out in Washington's inclement weather Wednesday without raincoat or hat on his way to yacht cruise with visiting Japanese Premier Ikeda. Today the president came down with a "mild virus infection," cancelled all appointments and stayed in bed. His back ailment is reported almost over and he is expected to be off crutches any day. (AP Wirephoto.)

Senator Got $5,000 For 'Election Debts'

MONTREAL (UPI) — Senator Henri Courtemanche today denied at a public inquiry that he received kickbacks from a hospital that received federal and provincial government grants.

... vouchers missing

He said, however, that he received a total of $47,000 in legal fees and $19,164 expropriation fees from the Jean Talon Hospital as its legal adviser, and $5,000 from the hospital's president to cover election debts.

Courtemanche, secretary of state in Prime Minister Diefenbaker's cabinet before he was given a lifetime appointment to the Senate, testified before a board of inquiry set up to investigate the hospital's financial situation.

BEFORE BOARD

He appeared before the board to answer charges by a hospital official last week that he received 10 per cent of all federal and provincial grants to the privately-operated hospital.

Courtemanche was the hospital's legal adviser for six years.

He said the first money he received was $10,000 in cash early in 1955 from Romuald Belhumeur, the hospital's former administrator, for work he undertook to get provincial government aid for the hospital.

He said he also received $5,000 from Dr. George Hurl, the hospital's president, in September, 1957. Courtemanche said this was to cover election debts Courtemanche ran up in the June 10, 1957, general election in which he was elected to the Commons.

The senator said he also got

Industries Hard Hit By Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Longshoremen returned to the piers today after a one-day work stoppage that crippled the Port of New York.

But the week-long national maritime strike grew worse. The number of immobilized American-flag ships rose to at least 150 in 30 ports on the east, west and Gulf coasts.

Negotiations were in a stalemate as the impact of the strike deepened. More industries—especially oil plants—were hit.

A group of oil producers in Texas asked President Kennedy to invoke the Taft-Hartley Labor Act and obtain a court order for an 80-day cooling-off period. The plea was made in a telegram by the North Texas Oil and Gas Association.

One of the ships knocked out of service was the United States—queen-of-the-American fleet—which was to sail for Europe Saturday with 1,700 passengers, its largest list of the year.

Gov't Takes First Step To Fire Head of Bank

Coyne Refuses To Change Stand

OTTAWA (CP)—The government took the first parliamentary step today in its move to oust James E. Coyne as governor of the Bank of Canada.

In Commons documents it gave notice of a bill entitled "An Act respecting the Bank of Canada." There were no details.

The bill may or may not be introduced in the Commons Friday.

The Liberal and CCF opposition parties have indicated the ouster bill will be hotly debated.

Coyne was reported today to have made no change in his decision not to resign in the face of the government move to oust him.

It is understood that, unless there is some further development to change his mind, the 50-year-old governor won't voluntarily step down.

Informants said that neither Finance Minister Fleming's Tuesday night budget nor the government's first formal move today to seek parliamentary action to fire him have changed Mr. Coyne's views on remaining.

U.K. Won't Alter Sterling

LONDON (Reuters)—Treasury chief Selwyn Lloyd pledged today that Britain will keep sterling on its present parity following the weakening of the Canadian dollar.

He told the Association of British Chambers of Commerce the pledge to keep sterling steady is "in no way affected" by the Canadian decision to reduce the value of its dollar.

Lloyd also said that Britain's balance of payments position "causes me concern" and that Britain must reduce overseas military expenditure as well as reducing other government expenditure overseas.

PLOT TO KILL ADLAI FOILED, SAYS PAPER

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York World Telegram said today it had learned of an abortive plot to assassinate UN Ambassador Adlai Stevenson during his recent visit to Argentina.

The newspaper said also that a U.S. marine involved in the investigation of the plot was later shot and is now hospitalized in critical condition.

LAOS 'SUMMIT'

Let King Do It, Princes Decide

ZURICH (AP)—The three princes of the warring factions in Laos agreed today on the need for national unity but left it up to King Savang Vathana to do something about it.

Laos Plans Rejected By Soviet

GENEVA (UPI) — Russia today rejected American and French proposals for effective controls to protect the neutrality and independence of Laos. It also refused to strengthen the truce teams trying to maintain the cease-fire.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Georgi Pushkin, speaking with a machinegun-style delivery before the 14-nation conference on Laos, turned down what the West maintains is fundamental machinery to guard the Southeast Asian kingdom from Communist penetration.

Pushkin also turned down offers by the U.S. and France to supply helicopters, light planes, trucks and other equipment for the international control commission supervising the Laotian cease-fire.

Pushkin said the control body is successfully carrying out its job in Laos and that the opposing Laotian factions should supply any transportation and communications facilities it needs.

Wednesday, however, Canadian External Affairs Minister Howard Green said reports from Canadian members of the ICC were that such equipment either was not available or was obsolete.

Power Blackout Hits Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—A power failure today blacked out a small section of the city, leaving building elevators stuck between floors, lights out and news and telegraph wires dead for more than an hour.

B.C. Electric officials said the outage apparently was caused by failure of an underground cable.

U.S. Sues Royal Bank Over Cheque in Cuba

NEW YORK (UPI) — The U.S. government filed suit in federal court today to recover $352,000 from the Royal Bank of Canada, in New York. The complaint charged the Royal Bank with negligence in failing to comply with a request to cancel a General Services Administration cheque for this amount which was transferred to the Nickel Processing Corp. of New York's account in the National Bank of Cuba.

The cheque, according to the complaint, was turned over to the Bank of Cuba the same day that Premier Fidel Castro ordered the nationalization of the Cuban Nickel Co., owned by the government and operated by Nickel Processing.

The suit said several demands have been made for the money. The government seeks return of the money plus interest.

It's a switch when th' Coyne tosser is on edge.

When 'Mister Fleming' brings down' a budget, he sort o' brings it down about his ears.

... 'men not demagogues'

Crisis End In Sight — Tshombe

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI) — Katanga President Moise Tshombe was freed today by the central Congolese government after two months of imprisonment and said his release brings "the end of the Congo crisis in sight."

"We will work together to make this a great country," he told a press conference in the home of central Congolese Premier Joseph Ileo. "But we need men—not demagogues. I think the Congolese leaders are becoming statesmen now instead of demagogues."

NEEDS CUSTOMERS

Tshombe also said that Katanga "has always wanted to collaborate with the rest of its brethren in the Congo." He said such collaboration is in Katanga's interests.

Some observers said Tshombe's statement indicated he may have finally given up hopes of seceding from the Congo, although what guarantees the central government has that he will not begin again were not immediately apparent.

Tshombe said he was freed at noon and would return to his capital in Elisabethville in a "few days." He confirmed earlier reports that he would be released only if Katanga's deputies promised to attend the resumption of the Congolese parliament session, set for next Sunday near here.

Minor Sacrifices Needed

HALIFAX (CP) — Sir Saville Garner, retiring United Kingdom high commissioner to Canada, said Wednesday the U.K. would not join the European Common Market if it involved becoming part of a "supra-national state."

He commented in a press conference that no country can yet see how the Common Market will work out.

If Britain does join, he said "the United Kingdom and the Commonwealth alike will have to make some minor sacrifices here and there."

DIEF ON COYNE

'Public Servants Not the Masters'

OTTAWA (CP) — "Public servants are not the masters of the elected representatives of the people," Prime Minister Diefenbaker asserted Wednesday night in his first public comment on the controversy between Finance Minister Fleming and James E. Coyne, governor of the Bank of Canada.

"I point this out because it is necessary to do so," Mr. Diefenbaker told a nationwide audience on the CBC program, The Nation's Business.

He said the publicized views of the governor on monetary and fiscal policy had presented "blocks in the path of progress that can defy even the most patient and persistent efforts."

The case of Mr. Coyne of the Bank of Canada now is thoroughly out in the open where it can be discussed and assessed in the light of all the facts.

URGED HIGHER TAXES

Mr. Diefenbaker told his audience:

"You shouldn't forget this—that among the things that he (Mr. Coyne) recommends for Canada are higher taxes, a 10-per-cent rise in tariffs for a few years, gasoline and diesel oil taxes and the like."

"Civil servants are entitled to give their views, but however exalted, they are not above the elected representatives of the people."

"No one can be allowed, no matter how much he or she may disagree with government policy, to impede the national policy for the development and expansion of the Canadian economy to equalize opportunities for all Canadians," said Mr. Diefenbaker.

"Public servants cannot demand from the elected representatives of the people."

The prime minister then went on with a review of Canadian progress since his government took office—four years ago Wednesday.

DEBATE OPENS

Another Budget In Fall?

OTTAWA (UPI) — Liberal finance critic William Bendickson said today he wouldn't be surprised if Finance Minister Fleming brings down another budget this year.

He told the Commons there was nothing in Tuesday night's budget to justify the delay of its presentation except possibly the section covering moves to reduce the value of the dollar.

He suggested Fleming might have needed three months—budgets are usually presented in March or April—to talk his cabinet colleagues out of huge expenditures.

Bendickson, opening the six-day budget debate, said the budget could not be called "expansionist" as Fleming called it because the spending programs had been decided last fall by the cabinet. He said these programs were decided on the ground of "political expediency" and not economics.

Polio Hits Japan

TOKYO (AP)—The government stepped up efforts Wednesday to check a polio outbreak that has stricken more than 1,000 Japanese and killed about 80. The welfare ministry said enough live vaccine to inoculate 13,430,000 persons will be imported from all available sources.

Monetary Fund to Study Canada's Dollar Policy

WASHINGTON (CP) — Informal sources said today realignment of Canada's dollar exchange policy will be studied by the International Monetary Fund which will seek an official explanation of the Canadian government plans to follow and the reasons behind it.

Informants said fund officers will undertake the inquiry described as a "consultation" to determine whether Canada is seeking any unfair competitive advantage in the export of her goods. These sources said the fund was given no advance inkling of the new Canadian policy outlined in the budget Tuesday night.

Normally, a country which plans to revise its exchange rates consults with the fund before announcing its decision.

However, Canada is in a slightly different category since she maintains what is known as a fluctuating rate rather than a pegged rate after letting the dollar float free in 1950.

What apparently seems to fund officers to be a switch from previous policy is the statement by Finance Minister Fleming that it will be Canadian government policy to "facilitate" the movement of the exchange rate to a "substantial discount" in relation to the American dollar.

In a sense, the Canadian government may therefore be attempting to devalue the Canadian dollar without pegging it at a fixed rate. Informants said the fund recognizes that in some instances a fluctuating rate may be necessary during times when it may be difficult to decide what a satisfactory pegged rate should be.

A point in Canada's favor, the fund's determination of Canadian policy, is that Canada maintains no exchange restrictions. Money can move freely across the border.

NEEDS CUSTOMERS

Tshombe also said that Katanga "has always wanted to collaborate with the rest of its brethren in the Congo." He said such collaboration is in Katanga's interests.

Some observers said Tshombe's statement indicated he may have finally given up hopes of seceding from the Congo, although what guarantees the central government has that he will not begin again were not immediately apparent.

Tshombe said he was freed at noon and would return to his capital in Elisabethville in a "few days." He confirmed earlier reports that he would be released only if Katanga's deputies promised to attend the resumption of the Congolese parliament session, set for next Sunday near here.

Industries
Hard Hit
By Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Longshoremen returned to the piers today after a one-day work stoppage that crippled the Port of New York.

But the week-long national maritime strike grew worse. The number of immobilized American-flag ships rose to at least 150 in 30 ports on the east, west and Gulf coasts.

Negotiations were in a stalemate as the impact of the strike deepened. More industries—especially oil plants—were hit.

A group of oil producers in Texas asked President Kennedy to invoke the Taft-Hartley Labor Act and obtain a court order for an 80-day cooling-off period. The plea was made in a telegram by the North Texas Oil and Gas Association.

One of the ships knocked out of service was the United States—queen of the American fleet—which was to sail for Europe Saturday with 1,700 passengers, its largest list of the year.

Head of Bank
Toughs It Out

OTTAWA (CP)—The government took the first parliamentary step today in its move to oust James E. Coyne as governor of the Bank of Canada.

In Commons documents it gave notice of a bill entitled "An Act respecting the Bank of Canada." There were no details.

The bill may or may not be introduced in the Commons Friday.

The Liberal and CCF opposition parties have indicated the ouster bill will be hotly debated.

Coyne was reported today to have made no change in his decision not to resign in the face of the government move to oust him.

It is understood that, unless there is some further development to change his mind, the 50-year-old governor won't voluntarily step down.

Informants said that neither Finance Minister Fleming's Tuesday night budget nor the government's first formal move today to seek parliamentary action to fire him have changed Mr. Coyne's views on remaining.

U.K. Won't
Alter
Sterling

LONDON (Reuters)—Treasury chief Selwyn Lloyd pledged today that Britain will keep sterling on its present parity following the weakening of the Canadian dollar.

He told the Association of British Chambers of Commerce the pledge to keep sterling steady is "in no way affected" by the Canadian decision to reduce the value of its dollar.

Lloyd also said that Britain's balance of payments position "causes me concern" and that Britain must reduce overseas military expenditure as well as reducing other government expenditure overseas.

DIEF ON COYNE

'Public Servants
Not the Masters'

OTTAWA (CP)—"Public servants are not the masters of the elected representatives of the people," Prime Minister Diefenbaker asserted Wednesday night in his first public comment on the controversy between Finance Minister Fleming and James E. Coyne, governor of the Bank of Canada.

"I point this out because it is necessary to do so," Mr. Diefenbaker told a nation-wide audience on the CBC program, The Nation's Business.

He said the publicized views of the governor on monetary and fiscal policy had presented "blocks in the path of progress that can defy even the most patient and persistent efforts."

The case of Mr. Coyne of the Bank of Canada now is thoroughly out in the open where it can be discussed and assessed in the light of all the facts.

URGED HIGHER TAXES

Mr. Diefenbaker told his audience: "You shouldn't forget this—that among the things that he (Mr. Coyne) recommends for Canada are higher taxes, a 10-per-cent rise in tariffs for a few years, gasoline and diesel oil taxes and the like."

"Civil servants are entitled to give their views, but however exalted, they are not above the elected representatives of the people."

"No one can be allowed, no matter how much he or she may disagree with government policy, to impede the national policy for the development and expansion of the Canadian economy to equalize opportunities for all Canadians," said Mr. Diefenbaker.

"Public servants cannot demand from the elected representatives of the people."

The prime minister then went on with a review of Canadian progress since his government took office—four years ago Wednesday.

DEBATE OPENS

Another
Budget
In Fall?

OTTAWA (UPI)—Liberal finance critic William Ben-dickson said today he wouldn't be surprised if Finance Minister Fleming brings down another budget this year.

He told the Commons: there was nothing in Tuesday night's budget to justify the delay of its presentation except possibly the section covering moves to reduce the value of the dollar.

He suggested Fleming might have needed three months—budgets are usually presented in March or April—to talk his cabinet colleagues out of huge expenditures.

Ben-dickson, opening the six-day budget debate, said the budget could not be called "expansionist" as Fleming called it because the spending programs had been decided last fall by the cabinet. He said these programs were decided on the ground of "political expediency" and not economics.
